General Messinger Gets Warm Reception by City

MURDER SUSPECT—Reno, Nev. police Lt. William Gregory (standing) questions James Chandler Morgan, alias James Arlon Call, in Reno. Morgan, picked up on burglary charges, was questioned by New York State troopers in connection with the killing of a policeman at Lake Placid, N. Y., last August. (NEA Telephoot)

Man to Return To Face Charge

Reno, Nev., Nov. 17 (AP)—Two New York state troopers today prepared to return home with a 29-year-old air force deserter who they say fatally shot a Lake Placid policeman, touching off a 104-day manhunt through the state's Adirondack Mountain forests.

Maj. James A. Call, who had been arrested here on burglary charges, yesterday waived extradition to New York state to face a murder charge in the slaying of Patrolman Richard Pelkey, 32.

Capt. Harold Muller of the New York state police said Call "would admit nothing" under questioning.

But after Call signed an extradition waiver, Muller declared: "This ends the manhunt. We've got our killer."

The captain said he probably would return with Call today.

In Albany, Albin S. Johnson, superintendent of state police, said last night: "I feel absolutely certain that the evidence we have is sufficient to make a prima facie case."

He said the manhunt force, which at times had numbered more than 100 state troopers, had been largely disbanded.

..THE SPECIAL task force, headed by Muller, had been combing the mountain wilderness since last Aug. 5, when Pelky and two fellow officers were shot in a gun battle with an unidentified burglar they surprised in the basement of an unoccupied summer home.

Pelky died five days later. The others, who were wounded, seriously are recuperating.

Muller and other officers spent four hours yesterday questioning Call, who has been identified as a deserter from the Barksdale Air Force Base in Louisiana. Reno police say he readily admitted burglarizing four fashionable Reno homes, but otherwise refused to talk.

Call had been unaware that he had been linked to the slaying until Muller and Sgt. H. E. Blaisdell of the New York State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation walked into his cell yesterday morning.

MULLER SAID Call showed surprise when asked about the shootings. The captain quoted him as saying:

"It's like the walls caving in on you...I've been hit between the eyes with this. I need time to clear the cobwebs and light up the dark corners."

Muller said Call maintained he could remember nothing of his activities during the past few months.

Reno police have said Call told

U. S. Will Not Appeal Ruling

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP) — The government announced today it will not appeal from a ruling by U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl refusing to disqualify himself as the trial judge in the Owen Lattimore perjury case.

The announcement that the government will take no further steps toward removing Youngdahl from the case was made by U. S. Atty. Leo A. Rover.

ROVER SAID the decision was made by the Justice Department. He explained that the Justice Department makes all decisions in cases involving appeals.

Rover, accusing Youngdahl of having "a fixed personal bias and prejudice" in favor of Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern specialist, had asked the judge to step aside.

Refusing to disqualify himself, Youngdahl described Rover's allegations as "scandalous."

The Lattimore trial is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 10 with Youngdahl presiding.

IN ADVANCE of the trial, Youngdahl must hear various defense motions, including one

Mother Calm Over Son's Beaten Body

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Alfred Bates testified yesterday that his girl friend "sat down on a chair as calm as though nothing ever happened" after allegedly administering a fatal beating to her 2½-year-old son.

The 23-year-old ex-convict testified before a jury in General Sessions Court where he and Margaret Mahony are on trial on first degree manslaughter charges.

The prosecution charges the boy Joseph was fatally beaten last Aug. 4 in a furnished room at 322 W. 84th street.

The trial continues today.

BATES TESTIFIED that Miss Mahony looked at the boy's body on the floor and sat down calmly as she returned to their room shortly after the alleged beating.

Bates took the witness stand after Miss Mahony, calm through most of her testimony, had insisted that immediately preceding the boy's death she had spanked him three or four times with a white plastic belt for "messing" his pants.

Bates testified before Judge Jonah J. Goldstein that when Miss Mahoney woke up on Aug. 4 and found her son had a toilet accident, "she grabbed the child by the hair and flung him across the room," against the wall.

He testified that she put the boy in the closet, and then dragged him from there by the hair to an adjoining hall bathroom from which, Bates said, he heard banging noises.

BATES SAID that when Miss Mahoney brought the child back, the boy was bleeding from the Americans Trying To Reach Fields

Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 17 (AP)—U. S. legation officials formally asked Hungary's Communist government today where American representatives can get in touch with Noel Field and his wife, Herta. The government announced earlier it has released the couple from jail after five years imprisonment and quashed spy charges against them.

The announcement gave no indication of the whereabouts of the 50-year-old former U. S. State Department employe and his German-born wife.

Although their release was announced early today, official notification was not given to U. S. Minister Christian M. Ravndal until he called at the Hungarian Foreign Ministry at noon.

AN EMBASSY spokesman declined to say whether Ravndal has specifically requested an interview with the Fields. Hungarian authorities had ignored two previous notes from the legation in recent months asking for interviews with them and for their repatriation.

The Hungarian Foreign Ministry, however, promised today to consider a request by the small contingent of western news correspondents in Budapest for aid in contacting the American people.

Noel and Herta were among four members of the Field family that vanished at intervals behind the Iron Curtain in 1949 and 1950 in an international mystery that baffled the western world.

THE HUNGARIAN announcement, made over Budapest Radio, came only 23 days after Poland's Communist government said it had freed Hermann Field, Noel's brother. Hermann, a Cleveland architect, had been arrested in Warsaw while searching for Noel. He is still in Poland convalescing in a sanitarium.

The latest announcement left only the fate of Noel's adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, still unexplained. Mrs. Wallach, the former Erika Glaser, disappeared in East Berlin Aug. 28, 1950, while searching for her foster-father.

During the intervening years, there was no official indication of what happened to the Fields, although their names cropped up in various Iron Curtain treason trials. Communist propagandists

Two Days Are Set To See Infirmary

Two days have been scheduled for open house at the new Ulster County Infirmary, formerly the City Home, on Flatbush avenue, near the intersection of Clifton avenue.

It was announced officially today that the remodeled building, considered most modern in every respect, will be open to the public on Saturday and Sunday.

Visiting hours, according to the announcement are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and the public is cordially invited to inspect the building, which the county has taken over for care of the aged chronically ill.

Russia Told U.S. Will Act

Warning Is Given That Protection Planned, Unless Plane Attacks End

Moscow, Nov. 17 (AP)—The United States warned Russia today it will be forced to act to protect its planes on legitimate missions unless the Russians take steps to prevent further aerial incidents between the two nations.

A note delivered by the U. S. Embassy to the Soviet Foreign Ministry asked the Soviet Union to clamp down on such cases as the destruction of a U. S. RB29 photo-mapping bomber by Soviet jet fighters Nov. 7.

Referring to that incident, which Moscow has blamed on the Americans, the note said: "Such actions are in flagrant contradiction to recent statements by high Soviet officials that the Soviet Union seeks to abate international tension."

THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT charged at the time that the American plane had violated island territory of the Russians off the northeast tip of Japan and fired first when Soviet fighters encountered it. American spokesman said the plane was 15 miles out and had not fired at all. Ten crewmen parachuted safely. The 11th became entangled in his parachute and drowned.

(The use of sabrejet fighter escorts, which proved more than a match for Russia's Migs in Korea, is one of the means which has been debated in Washington for the protection of reconnaissance and transport planes assigned to work anywhere near the Red orbit.)

THE NEW AMERICAN note was a sequel to one delivered immediately after the incident.

It was this shooting down of an American plane which caused criticism in the United States Senate over U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen's attendance at a Kremlin dinner party the same night.

The new note rejected the Soviet version that the American plane intruded into Soviet air space and repeated the American version.

Significantly, it referred to a dispute between Japan and the Soviet Union over control of the Habonai Islands.

This is the area where the incident occurred.

Monroney Says Move Torpedoed

Says Watkins Had 'Terrific Impact'

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said today that chances for a compromise of the McCarthy censure resolution were "torpedoed" by the new move to charge Sen. McCarthy with continuing contempt of the Senate in current debate.

Monroney said the speech yesterday by Sen. Watkins, Utah Republican who headed the special six-man censure committee, had a "terrific impact" on the Senate.

WATKINS TOLD the Senate McCarthy had been contemptuous "under our very noses" in describing the committee as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communists. He called for a new censure count. Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) announced that he would offer one later.

Senators who have been angling for a compromise recognized the day's developments as a setback but were not giving up hope.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), a McCarthy supporter and a leading force in the compromise efforts, said "you never can tell until you try."

Dirksen so far has refrained from entering into the floor debate, preferring to work behind the scenes, but he said he may speak tomorrow.

SEN. BRIDGES (R-N.H.), temporary president of the Senate who has been active in compromise talks, was reported planning to address the Senate later in the day.

He said he thought the additional censure count proposed by Bennett would make efforts to work out a compromise "a little more difficult."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) who said he has not made up his mind on the proposed censure, told reporters that any chance for a compromise certainly was "shak-

EDWIN J. MESSINGER

West Point Leader Is Welcomed

He Will Be Guest At Dinner Tonight

Brig. Gen. Edwin J. Messinger, recently appointed commandant of cadets at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, "came home" today, and found the city extending a welcome that started when he arrived at the Rondout creek bridge at 10:30 and continued on until night.

Met by an escort of police and city officials, he proceeded to the city hall where Mayor Frederick H. Stang presented him with a key to the city. He was then escorted to the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, where a special service was held in his honor.

AFTER THE SERVICE he made a tour of the city with the official escort. The tour was followed by an informal luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel attended by members of the general's high school class of 1924. At 2:15 p. m., he was greeted by the high school student body at the Kate Walton Field House, and he was due to be guest of honor at a dinner in the high school cafeteria at 7 p. m.

At the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Gen. Messinger and his family were met by the church council and escorted into the church, where, led by church officials, he was taken to a specially designated seat.

The service was by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the church, with Mrs. Lester Decker, organist. The choir, under direction of Leonard Stein, sang Malotte's "Lord's Prayer."

A HIGH POINT in the service was the escorting of Gen. Messinger to the altar by his brother, Alfred J. Messinger, who for many years was a member of the church council, and by George V. Dennis, secretary of the congregation.

An ushers' standard was dedicated there by the pastor. The standard is a staff with the West Point crest set in either end. It also bears the West Point colors and an American flag. It will be used to mark special seating for those serving in the armed forces.

The standard, as the pastor explained its symbolism, was held by Pfc. William Rogers, of Sleightsburg. The dedication was followed by closing prayers and benediction.

Gen. Messinger's father and mother were charter members of the church, and his wife, the former Emily Nelson, is the daughter of a former pastor of the church.

President Says 2-Party Approach Is Necessary

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today told Democratic and Republican congressional leaders it is "essential to have a continuing bipartisan approach to foreign affairs and national security matters."

Meeting with Democratic chiefs of the incoming 84th Congress for the first time since the election, the President declared such an approach is necessary "in the best interest of our nation, regardless of which political party controls the Congress."

The views Eisenhower expressed to the leaders of both parties were outlined to newsmen by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after a two hour and 15 minute conference.

In response to questions, Hagerty said a proposal by Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, for review of administration foreign policy was not discussed at the session.

Rep. Rayburn (D.-Tex.) slated to be House speaker in the new Democratic-controlled 84th Congress, also told reporters the Knowland proposal did not come up.

Both Rayburn and Knowland, as well as other leaders who attended the conference, declined to discuss what went on. They said there had been a general agreement that only the White House statement would be issued.

Earlier Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), now chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had reported that the President promised "absolute cooperation

Concrete has been poured on all lanes and the last poured is now in the process of curing. It will be some time before the contractor moves completely from the area, however, because such finishing details as the carting and spreading of top soil are still to be completed.

No Special Parking Permits To Be Given to Jurors

Jurors serving on the courts in Ulster county will not be extended any special parking privileges in the county parking grounds.

The board of supervisors Tuesday evening defeated a resolution of Supervisor Joseph Turck of the fourth ward under which jurors would have been issued a parking permit while serving on the jury. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 20 to 9.

At a meeting of the board last week Turck offered a resolution calling for the issuance of a special permit for cars of jurors while they were attending court. This was designed to prevent overtime parking tickets or having to go out each two hours and deposit a coin. That resolution was tabled and last evening came up for a vote.

Supervisor Jesse McHugh stated that the board of supervisors had unanimously adopted parking regulations for the county parking lot and to extend to one group a special right would be to defeat the parking regulations. If jurors were extended free parking then other county employes would seek such a right.

The board approved town budgets and items for special districts within such towns as submitted by the towns and authority was granted to levy the taxes on such districts.

Edwin O'Reilly, who was appointed a member of the Ulster County Board of Health for the unexpired term of Msgr. Drury, was reappointed for a full six-year term beginning January 1, his present term ending on December 31.

A communication was received from the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, requesting the appointment of a County agent and suggesting that the salary of such agent be paid by the county. This action was approved by the Society at a meeting held on October 26. The communication was referred to the Budget Committee.

The table of state equalization rates as submitted by the state was received and referred to the Committee on Equalization. The state table is used in numerous instances involving special franchises, state lands and where a special district lies partly within more than one township or county. For Local assessment purposes the board may fix a table other than the state table.

The committee on town expenses reported Wallkill Sewer District unpaid assessments in the sum of $4,216.80 and it was

Among the guests present was Charles Drought of Rockland county, president of the Fire Police Association of New York State, and also Albert Bel Isle, secretary of the Dutchess County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

President Adam Ulrich of Wallkill called the meeting to order and presided.

A report was made on the meeting last week in Albany of the clearing house on legislation. There was a report on 27 proposals and one of them, bingo which has come in for consider-

DeLuca Will Get State Job Of Battling Delinquency

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gov.-elect Averell Harriman has commissioned his lieutenant governor-elect, George B. DeLuca, to develop a program to fight juvenile delinquency for submission to the Legislature.

Harriman says his choice will demonstrate that DeLuca, now district attorney of the Bronx, is to play an active role in the new Democratic administration.

Harriman, who announced the designation at a news conference yesterday, said:

"My impression is that juvenile delinquency is the problem that is uppermost in the minds of all parents of children attending public schools.

"It is a fact that a lot of children attending public schools get beaten up. My own grandson, Bob Finke, was beaten up last year. They wanted to take his bus ticket but he didn't have a bus ticket.

"Fundamentally it is a community problem, but the state has a duty to provide leadership in attacking it."

Recalling the days when he walked back and forth between his home and a private school in Manhattan as a boy, Harriman said:

"Maybe it's the cop on the beat. Maybe I'm just cockeyed, but I used to get into flights, and the cop on the beat would come and divide us.

"We got black eyes. We didn't say where we got them when we went home. We used to fight, throw bricks and all that . . . that could well have been the start of current gangs."

DeLuca's assignment to develop a "step-by-step" anti-juvenile delinquency program was announced after a confer-

Horse Racing Gave State $59,110,065 in '54 Taxes

Albany, Nov. 17 (AP) — New York state raked in a record $59,110,065 in taxes on horse racing this year.

Figures made public yesterday by Allen J. Goodrich, president of the State Tax Commission, showed the government took in $57,033,407 from its "bite" on pari-mutuel betting at thoroughbred and harness tracks and $1,780,687 in admissions taxes.

The final $295,970 was the unwitting contribution of bettors who failed to cash in winning pari-mutuel tickets.

There were 717 racing days in the state this season, which ended Monday.

The previous record for racing revenue was set last year, when the state collected $50,734,252 in 703 racing days.

Although betting fell off this year at both thoroughbred and sulky tracks, revenue rose because the state increased its take from the pool set aside from daily pari-mutuel wagering.

At flat tracks, Goodrich reported, the state collected a record $33,777,310 on a pari-mutuel handle of $363,306,510—this for 196 racing days.

Last year, the state culled $31,149,073 from a handle of $374,479,656 in 197 days of racing.

In 521 harness racing days this year, the state took in $23,256,096 on a handle of $269,510,458. Last year the state collected $17,504,279 from a 506-day handle of $272,375,230.

This year's collections brought to $435,968,317 the total revenue from racing in the 15 years that pari-mutuel betting has been legal in New York state. Bets during the period totaled $6,374,388,616.

Total wagering for the 1954 season was $632,816,968. In 1953, bettors shoved $646,854,886 through the pari-mutuel windows.

Local governments, which also tax pari-mutuel betting at flat tracks, collected $7,265,099 this year. New York city took in $4,728,447, Nassau county $2,074,652 and Saratoga county $462,020.

Fifteen per cent of every dollar wagered at both flat and harness tracks is set aside to form the pool, which is shared by the state and track operators. Local governments share only in the flat track pools.

This year the state's share for all flat tracks except Saratoga was 9 per cent of the total handle—9 of every 15 cents—plus 60 per cent of the breakage, which is the odd pennies left after bets are paid to the nearest five cents. The state tax at

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), a McCarthy supporter and a leading force in the compromise efforts, said "you never can tell until you try."

Dirksen so far has refrained from entering into the floor debate, preferring to work behind the scenes, but he said he may speak tomorrow.

SEN. BRIDGES (R-N.H.), temporary president of the Senate who has been active in compromise talks, was reported planning to address the Senate later in the day.

He said he thought the additional censure count proposed by Bennett would make efforts to work out a compromise "a little more difficult."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) who said he has not made up his mind on the proposed censure, told reporters that any chance for a compromise certainly was "shak-

No Special Parking Permits To Be Given to Jurors

Jurors serving on the courts in Ulster county will not be extended any special parking privileges in the county parking grounds.

The board of supervisors Tuesday evening defeated a resolution of Supervisor Joseph Turck of the fourth ward under which jurors would have been issued a parking permit while serving on the jury. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 20 to 9.

At a meeting of the board last week Turck offered a resolution calling for the issuance of a special permit for cars of jurors while they were attending court. This was designed to prevent overtime parking tickets or having to go out each two hours and deposit a coin. That resolution was tabled and last evening came up for a vote.

Supervisor Jesse McHugh stated that the board of supervisors had unanimously adopted parking regulations for the county parking lot and to extend to one group a special right would be to defeat the parking regulations. If jurors were extended free parking then other county employes would seek such a right.

The board approved town budgets and items for special districts within such towns as submitted by the towns and authority was granted to levy the taxes on such districts.

Edwin O'Reilly, who was appointed a member of the Ulster County Board of Health for the unexpired term of Msgr. Drury, was reappointed for a full six-year term beginning January 1, his present term ending on December 31.

A communication was received from the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, requesting the appointment of a County agent and suggesting that the salary of such agent be paid by the county. This action was approved by the Society at a meeting held on October 26. The communication was referred to the Budget Committee.

The table of state equalization rates as submitted by the state was received and referred to the Committee on Equalization. The state table is used in numerous instances involving special franchises, state lands and where a special district lies partly within more than one township or county. For Local assessment purposes the board may fix a table other than the state table.

The committee on town expenses reported Wallkill Sewer District unpaid assessments in the sum of $4,216.80 and it was

Vols Hear Bingo May Be Approved By State in 1957

A regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association was held at West Hurley firehouse last evening when the West Hurley firemen were hosts to the county members. On the roll call 60 per cent of the fire companies answered.

Among the guests present was Charles Drought of Rockland county, president of the Fire Police Association of New York State, and also Albert Bel Isle, secretary of the Dutchess County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

President Adam Ulrich of Wallkill called the meeting to order and presided.

A report was made on the meeting last week in Albany of the clearing house on legislation. There was a report on 27 proposals and one of them, bingo which has come in for consider-

President Says 2-Party Approach Is Necessary

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today told Democratic and Republican congressional leaders it is "essential to have a continuing bipartisan approach to foreign affairs and national security matters."

Meeting with Democratic chiefs of the incoming 84th Congress for the first time since the election, the President declared such an approach is necessary "in the best interest of our nation, regardless of which political party controls the Congress."

The views Eisenhower expressed to the leaders of both parties were outlined to newsmen by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after a two hour and 15 minute conference.

In response to questions, Hagerty said a proposal by Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, for review of administration foreign policy was not discussed at the session.

Rep. Rayburn (D.-Tex.) slated to be House speaker in the new Democratic-controlled 84th Congress, also told reporters the Knowland proposal did not come up.

Both Rayburn and Knowland, as well as other leaders who attended the conference, declined to discuss what went on. They said there had been a general agreement that only the White House statement would be issued.

Earlier Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), now chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had reported that the President promised "absolute cooperation

Overpass Use Is Planned Soon

The Route 28 overpass at the thruway interchange is expected to be fully open to traffic "within the next few days," a spokesman for contractor A. E. Ottaviano, of Croton said today.

Concrete has been poured on all lanes and the last poured is now in the process of curing. It will be some time before the contractor moves completely from the area, however, because such finishing details as the carting and spreading of top soil are still to be completed.

THE CONCRETE PLANT used for all pourings in the area, and other equipment not re-

DeLuca Will Get State Job Of Battling Delinquency

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gov.-elect Averell Harriman has commissioned his lieutenant governor-elect, George B. DeLuca, to develop a program to fight juvenile delinquency for submission to the Legislature.

Harriman says his choice will demonstrate that DeLuca, now district attorney of the Bronx, is to play an active role in the new Democratic administration.

Harriman, who announced the designation at a news conference yesterday, said:

"My impression is that juvenile delinquency is the problem that is uppermost in the minds of all parents of children attending public schools.

"It is a fact that a lot of children attending public schools get beaten up. My own grandson, Bob Fiske, was beaten up last year. They wanted to take his bus ticket but he didn't have a bus ticket.

"Fundamentally it is a community problem, but the state has a duty to provide leadership in attacking it."

Recalling the days when he walked back and forth between his home and a private school in Manhattan as a boy, Harriman said:

"Maybe it's the cop on the beat. Maybe I'm just cockeyed, but I used to get into fights, and the cop on the beat would come and divide us.

"We got black eyes. We didn't say where we got them when we went home. We used to fight, throw bricks and all that . . . that could well have been the start of current gangs."

DeLuca's assignment to develop a "step-by-step" anti-juvenile delinquency program was announced after a confer-

West Point Leader Is Welcomed

He Will Be Guest At Dinner Tonight

Brig. Gen. Edwin J. Messinger, recently appointed commandant of cadets at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, "came home" today, and found the city extending a welcome that started when he arrived at the Rondout creek bridge at 10:30 and continued on until night.

Met by an escort of police and city officials, he proceeded to the city hall where Mayor Frederick H. Stang presented him with a key to the city. He was then escorted to the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, where a special service was held in his honor.

AFTER THE SERVICE he made a tour of the city with the official escort. The tour was followed by an informal luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel attended by members of the general's high school class of 1924. At 2:15 p. m., he was greeted by the high school student body at the Kate Walton Field House, and he was due to be guest of honor at a dinner in the high school cafeteria at 7 p. m.

At the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Gen. Messinger and his family were met by the church council and escorted into the church, where, led by church officials, he was taken to a specially designated seat.

The service was by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the church, with Mrs. Lester Decker, organist. The choir, under direction of Leonard Stein, sang Malotte's "Lord's Prayer."

A HIGH POINT in the service was the escorting of Gen. Messinger to the altar by his brother, Alfred J. Messinger, who for many years was a member of the church council, and by George V. Dennis, secretary of the congregation.

An ushers' standard was dedicated there by the pastor. The standard is a staff with the West Point crest set in either end. It also bears the West Point colors and an American flag. It will be used to mark special seating for those serving in the armed forces.

The standard, as the pastor explained its symbolism, was held by Pfc. William Rogers, of Sleightsburg. The dedication was followed by closing prayers and benediction.

Gen. Messinger's father and mother were charter members of the church, and his wife, the former Emily Nelson, is the daughter of a former pastor of the church.

Horse Racing Gave State $59,110,065 in '54 Taxes

Albany, Nov. 17 (AP) — New York state raked in a record $59,110,065 in taxes on horse racing this year.

Figures made public yesterday by Allen J. Goodrich, president of the State Tax Commission, showed the government took in $57,033,407 from its "bite" on pari-mutuel betting at thoroughbred and harness tracks and $1,780,687 in admissions taxes.

The final $295,970 was the unwitting contribution of bettors who failed to cash in winning pari-mutuel tickets.

There were 717 racing days in the state this season, which ended Monday.

The previous record for racing revenue was set last year, when the state collected $50,734,252 in 703 racing days.

Although betting fell off this year at both thoroughbred and sulky tracks, revenue rose because the state increased its take from the pool set aside from daily pari-mutuel wagering.

At flat tracks, Goodrich reported, the state collected a record $33,777,310 on a pari-mutuel handle of $363,306,510—this for 196 racing days.

Last year, the state culled $31,149,073 from a handle of $374,479,656 in 197 days of racing.

In 521 harness racing days this year, the state took in $23,256,096 on a handle of $269,510,458. Last year the state collected $17,504,279 from a 506-day handle of $272,375,230.

This year's collections brought to $435,968,317 the total revenue from racing in the 15 years that pari-mutuel betting has been legal in New York state. Bets during the period totaled $6,374,388,616.

Total wagering for the 1954 season was $632,816,968. In 1953, bettors shoved $646,854,886 through the pari-mutuel windows.

Local governments, which also tax pari-mutuel betting at flat tracks, collected $7,265,099 this year. New York city took in $4,728,447, Nassau county $2,074,652 and Saratoga county $462,020.

Fifteen per cent of every dollar wagered at both flat and harness tracks is set aside to form the pool, which is shared by the state and track operators. Local governments share only in the flat track pools.

This year the state's share for all flat tracks except Saratoga was 9 per cent of the total handle—9 of every 15 cents—plus 60 per cent of the breakage, which is the odd pennies left after bets are paid to the nearest five cents. The state tax at

CONTRADICTING THE EXPERTS

The unofficial vote totals for the 1954 general election contradict the many political specialists who said over and over that voters this year were apathetic. The turnout of some 43,400,000 citizens was a balloting record in a nonpresidential year.

Admittedly the total was 18,000,000 off the showing in 1952, the biggest presidential voting year in history. But the truer measure is with the 42,462,000 who voted in the previous record 1950 off-year.

Election day reports made it evident that voters over half the nation braved rain and snow to get to the polls. These accounts hardly fit a picture of popular apathy.

Apparently both politicians and the analysts who listen to them had a tendency to misread the silence of many voters. A severe fall-off from presidential peaks is always to be expected, especially when no really vital issues seem to be involved, as was the case this time. But the results suggest it is risky to exaggerate that decline.

Americans perhaps need to be educated to regard their off-year elections for Congress as seriously as they do their presidential battles. But until they do, the vote samplers probably ought to be more selective in trying to gauge apathy. The answer, at any given election, may lie with the steady voter. If he is staying away, then there would seem to be clear indication of apathy.

This time the steady voter, augmented by some new voters and by others who felt the very uneven impact of unemployment and sagging farm prices, made the talk of popular disinterest appear somewhat foolish.

The 1954 totals show that nationally the Democrats outpolled the Republicans by more than 1,750,000. But this figure is misleading, since most of the Democratic margin was built up in the Solid South. Outside that area, the Democratic advantage was a mere 370,000.

Spread that number of votes across more than 35 states and you can understand why there were so many photo-finishes on Nov. 2. It's fair to say that outside the South the two parties ended in a virtual tie in their bid for popular favor.

So it is true that the reliable off-year voters did not stay home. But neither major party found a way to stir the millions who customarily ignore nonpresidential elections. As a matter of fact, those who did come out demonstrated quite forcefully that neither party holds much charm for them.

What we say often determines us much more than we determine what we say.

NEW FORM OF GRAFT

A new form of graft has been exposed n New York City. The rather complicated swindle works this way:

A motorist anxious to get away with breaking the law buys or gets a card with the name of a motorcycle policeman on it. If he is stopped for violating a traffic law he surrenders the card and is waved on without getting a ticket. Later the cop whose name is on the card turns up to be paid. His fee is usually less than the standard fine. He splits the bribe with other cooperating police.

The scheme points up one thing. Government graft is seldom if ever possible without the participation of private citizens. It is wrong for policemen to take bribes. Most cops would scorn any dishonest money. But what of civilians who tempt them, who make dishonesty profitable?

The principle applies to other forms of graft in government as well. Government officials who grant special favors are despicable but the givers of bribes are equally guilty and equally deserving of contempt.

For some reason there are people who take pride in being able to "fix" a ticket. Most of them would never stoop to a bribe to to do so but they do call on politicians to get out of paying their fines. What they are really doing is offering good will and a sense of obligation in exchange for a favor and they are helping to corrupt office-holders.

The New York policemen who took part in the swindle are a disgrace to their uniforms and their honest brother officers. The motorists who participated are a disgrace to their citizenship.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SUICIDE OF THE RICH

Eugene Lyons raises an important point in "Human Events," when he writes on the suicide of the rich who support movements and individuals who seek their destruction. It is an important thesis; yet it must be remembered that Frederick Engels, who was Karl Marx's partner in revolutionary doctrine, was a large textile manufacturer; Prince Peter Kropotkin, who was what used to be called a philosophic anarchist, was of the Russian nobility; that most of the early leaders of the Bolsheviks were of the economic middle-class, and that in the United States, many of the Socialists of other generations, such as James G. Phelps Stokes and Robert Hunter, were men of means. Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Corliss Lamont do not stand out as exceptional leftists among the rich.

Eugene Lyons says:

"The tragic irony of it is that many former Communists find themselves in economic straits precisely because they are dedicated to exposing and fighting the Red faith they repudiated. Had they chosen, like the overwhelming majority of the disillusioned, to crawl away in silence, they would have evaded the ostracism, the ordeal by sneer, which have been their portion. In the liberal vocabulary, the opposite of a 'professional ex-Communist' is not an amateur ex-Communist but an ex-Communist who pleads the Fifth Amendment."

Anti-Communist organizations generally operate on a pittance and any effort to raise money for them is a most unpleasant experience. Men whose selfish interests might be protected by opposition to Communism seem to fear to have their names associated with such causes. On the other hand, organizations like the National Committee for an Effective Congress or the Fund for the Republic, which throw road-blocks in the way of anti-Communists, are well-heeled. The various Jewish organizations which exist to fight anti-Semitism raise millions of dollars every year, even if sometimes their labors involve shadow-boxing, but the American Jewish League Against Communism has to pass the hat to pay its rent and its one employe, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, often is not paid at all.

The explanation perhaps lies in the fact that class-consciousness is not a normal characteristic of a classless society and the United States is a classless society. If Federick Vanderbilt Field chooses to be a Communist, he acts as an individual and not as a member of a class-conscious group. When some of the ultra-rich hated Franklin D. Roosevelt because he "betrayed his class," they failed to realize that he belonged to no class. He was an opportunistic politician who happened to read his times correctly and took advantage of the situation.

In the fight against Communism, curious social phenomena are constantly being encountered. For instance, a lawyer who is an anti-Communist, who delivers speeches on private enterprise and the dignity of man, may be found advising his clients in such a way as to strengthen the Communists. He may even be a Roman Catholic who contributes to fighting Communism; yet, in the motion picture business he might be the stumbling block to any effort to clean up the situation in Hollywood. Is he a hypocrite? Not at all. He is a lawyer who can separate, in his mind, his philosophy of life from the necessities of his clients.

That kind of thinking is current in this country. It has nothing to do with the rich protecting their property; it does have to do with large segments of our people not being able to adjust their minds to the realities of the Communist conspiracy. They can speak of it forthrightly at a dinner party; it plays no part in the life of their offices.

The fact must be faced by a man like Eugene Lyons, who is expert in the subject, that most intelligent Americans have been educated vocationally but are ignorant of philosophy and history which they left, at college, to the long-haired boys and short-haired girls. Even in the anti-Communist movement, among those who are most active, ignorance of Marxism is appalling. Most of these men and women often take the right positions for the wrong reasons, which means that what they do sometimes gives aid and comfort to the enemy. The theoretical basis of a movement that now encompasses 800,000,000 human beings is utterly unknown to them. And because they do not know what they are fighting, they do not fight effectively.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

IS YOUR CHILD READY FOR SCHOOL?

Sometimes parents are so anxious for the child to get started at school that he or she is sent before really ready and hence has considerable difficulty in doing what is expected or in getting along with teacher and classmates. For instance, a child may have a well-developed body and in outward appearance be a large child for his age and yet be quite undeveloped in getting along with other children. Similarly a six-year-old child may be as advanced as a seven-year-old in use of language and yet be very clumsy in the use of his hands in handling tools or drawing.

Dr. F. Weinberg of the University of Toronto in the magazine "Health" gives parents some valuable advice in outlining a list of things a child should have learned before he is ready for school:

1. He should have learned to attend to his own toilet needs without supervision; to wash his own hands and face.

2. To dress and undress himself without help with a few exceptions such as snowsuits and shoelaces.

3. He should have acquired a fair degree of control of the larger muscles such as in running, jumping, climbing. He should be able to understand simple directions and carry them out.

4. He should have learned to accept necessary rules and regulations.

5. He should speak clearly and readily with no baby talk.

6. He should be content without his parents, able to go places without them, stay at home when they are not there.

7. He should have already discarded temper tantrums as a means of gettting his own way.

8. He should have learned to play with other children without too much quarreling.

It is certainly a lot for a child to learn in a few short years. The overprotected child will have special difficulty in adjusting to school life as he has become accustomed to having his parents fight his battles for him and make his decisions for him.

"The physical preparation of the child starting to school consists firstly of a complete physical examination by his own doctor whom he knows. This will uncover defects of hearing, vision and growth, etc., if present. A visit to the dentist for a thorough examination is also a must for the child starting school."

Enuresis—Bed Wetting

Bed wetting is an embarrassing complaint for both the child and parents. Send for Dr. Barton's helpful leaflet entitled "Bed Wetting," enclosing 10 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. "Water Boy? Heck No, He's Our Star Ball Carrier"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — A tremendous amount of unpublicized work on rearming Western Germany has already been done by the U. S. Department of Defense. Much of the planning has already been completed and large volumes of military supplies have been accumulated in the U. S.

Delivery of these supplies for equipping the German army can be begun as soon as the agreements recently signed at Paris can be ratified by Germany, the North Atlantic Treaty and Western European Union countries. This ratification is now hoped for by February, 1955, at the earliest, but it will probably be some months later.

It will be two years after ratification before Germany has her 12 army divisions and auxiliary troops. It will be another year before the German air force and navy can be made fully operative.

It would be foolish to start counting these troops as already mobilized on the side of the Western powers. But it would be wrong to think that Germany has to start from absolute scratch in building up its forces.

ON RECRUITING and training the approximately 500,000 troops, the Germans do have to begin at the beginning. But plans have already been worked out for a draft system similar to that of the United States. This draft will be supplemented by volunteers.

The West German police force will not be moved over into the new German army en masse. Some officers and noncommissioned officers who are veterans of past wars may transfer over to the new force. But there is no German "army of 100,000 sergeants," such as Adolf Hitler had when he started to build up the Wehrmacht.

Officer, pilot and noncom schools will naturally come first for retraining German veterans. The rookies will be largely draftees in their late teens and early twenties, like new American privates.

Most of the old German barracks are now occupied by American, British and French occupation troops. They will stay on. Contracts for some new camps and training areas still have to be let.

German airfields, supply centers and other military installations have already been largely built and paid for by German money in the last four years. This money has come from the occupation costs paid by Germany to the U. S., Britain and France.

THESE PAYMENTS AMOUNTED TO $100 million a month from 1946 through 1951 and $143 million a month from 1952 through 1954. The total is over $12 billion.

A German military budget has already been provided for. Now amounting to $1.7 billion a year in occupation costs, it will go to about $3 billion a year when Germany has her own armed forces.

Germany will provide all the uniforms, pay, subsistence, light arms and ammunition for her own troops. It will, of course, take some time to get German military production lines rolling.

The United States will supply aircraft, ships, tanks, heavy artillery and the big items of military equipment, which take a longer time to produce for the initial equipment. The new treaties, of course, prohibit German production of atomic and special weapons. There is no provision that Britain and France will share the costs of German heavy equipment.

EARLY IN JANUARY, however, there will be a meeting of European military officials in London to work out plans for an arms production pool, suggested by French Premier Mendes-France.

The amount of U. S. money appropriated for the initial German army equipment has never been made public. The figures are buried in U. S. Mutual Security program appropriations which are announced only by area totals.

It is known that there was no appropriation for Germany in this year's U. S. military budget, but there were appropriations in the two years previous. All this action was taken in anticipation of adoption of the European Defense Community plan. Though EDC was killed, this planning and procurement were not wasted. They will provide just as effective military aid for Germany under the new Western European Union.

Whether a supplemental German military aid appropriation will be asked for when Congress returns in January, and whether an extra German aid appropriation will be asked for fiscal 1956 have not been decided. They will depend on the progress of treaty ratification. Before any U. S. aid can go to Germany, of course, a standard military assistance agreement will have to be made between the two countries.

Knowland's Desire Is to Bring Russian Intentions Out Into Open

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 17—Everybody in the government here, including the Congress, seems to be in favor of "co-existence" with Soviet Russia but nobody is quite sure it's going to be "peaceful."

That's the crux of the debate precipitated Tuesday by Sen. Knowland, Republican of California, majority leader, who wants to discuss frankly and in the open just what the present Communist activities in the world really mean.

This doesn't mean that Mr. Knowland is necessarily at variance with the White House. Nor is there any real evidence that either the President or the Secretary of State are averse to having the Senate debate the issues. For it is apparent that, as Secretary Dulles himself told a press conference after the Knowland speech, there is some difference of opinion between Moscow and Washington as to just what "peaceful co-existence" means.

So far as this government and perhaps also most all of the Western countries known as part of the free world are concerned, "peaceful co-existence" means honorable intercourse, a willingness to keep out of each other's affairs, and particularly it means the absence of any aggression.

But the suspicion here, which is shared by the executive branch of the government, is that, just as the Soviet Union claims it is a "democracy," so will it also distort the meaning of "peaceful co-existence."

To the United States, "peaceful co-existence" does not mean the repeated shooting down of planes on peaceful errands or a threat to invade weaker countries such as is now being witnessed in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

Since it is apparent that Moscow isn't sincere and refuses to be peaceful, the debate on what "co-existence" means has been opened up in timely fashion by Sen. Knowland. There are indications that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who speaks as Democratic party leader, and other Democrats in Congress are aware of the importance of full discussion, especially as it relates to the meaning of "peaceful co-existence." It is of the utmost importance, too, that Soviet Russia should not misconstrue the meaning of the last election. In Britain, Clement Attlee of the Labor party was quoted not long ago as saying that a Democratic victory in the Congressional elections would mean a change in America's stand against admission of Red China into the United Nations.

There are some Democrats, like Sen. Hennings of Missouri, who by their speeches at any rate give the impression that they believe there is no alternative to "peaceful co-existence" except an atomic war. There are, moreover, some impressions conveyed occasionally by the President's remarks at his press conferences which have led to a belief that he is against war no matter how much American rights may be violated.

The truth is the President is not a "peace at any price" man and has never deliberately given that impression. On the contrary, he is the kind of President who, like Woodrow Wilson, is known for his pacific desires and tendencies, but, when the big overt act comes and there is no alternative but to fight it out, he courageously makes that decision.

The big wars in history have come because the enemy has misconstrued the patience of the democracies and miscalculated what they might do if their allies were attacked.

The purpose of the debate started by Sen. Knowland is to let Soviet Russia know that America isn't going to sit passively by while the Communists gobble up nation after nation in Asia or while they carry on their subversive propaganda inside peaceful nations. The idea of severing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union is often mentioned by Mr. Knowland as one of the alternatives of war. It is a step considered as one means of impressing the Soviet that she cannot count on the "co-existence" policy that envisages a continuance of the "cold war" by the Soviets.

Something more than mere talk about peace is being sought. Sen. Knowland's remarks, which have already been misinterpreted as belligerent and probably will be twisted by critics who want a "peace at any price" policy, are designed solely to apply moral force to prevent a third world war from breaking out. That's why the debate that has started is a healthy sign. It may be that Moscow will be convinced by the discussion that there is more for the Soviet government to do on the "peaceful" end of "co-existence" than has been apparent thus far from Moscow.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is evidence that the high incidence of sexual perversion in the State Department in the Roosevelt administration reflected a tolerant attitude in the White House. That evidence exists in a forgotten expose initiated by Bishop James De Wolf Perry, Jr., of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island, in the summer of 1919. Bishop Perry obtained evidence that young naval bluejackets at the Newport station had been assigned to the duty of obtaining evidence of homosexuality. A Senate committee later proved that Franklin D. Roosevelt, as assistant secretary, had secretly organized a special squad of bluejackets for this duty and had resorted, in part, to verbal orders to escape responsibility on the record.

Bishop Perry personally complained to Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy and Roosevelt's chief, in September, 1919. On January 18, 1920, John R. Rathom, editor of the Providence Journal, wired charges to each member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee and demanded an investigation not by the navy but by the Senate.

The committee hopped to it. Its report was a scornful denunciation of Roosevelt. It also rebuked Daniels for "disapproving" an adverse report on Roosevelt's conduct by a naval court of inquiry under Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn. Daniels rejected the court's finding that Roosevelt's employment of young bluejackets in this activity was "unfortunate, ill-advised" and "to be condemned." The Senate committee said it was "most reprehensible." It was "a most deplorable, disgraceful and unnatural proceeding."

The violent open-letter which the Journal published on Oct. 25, 1920, brought Roosevelt into the Supreme Court of New York county with a libel suit for $500,000, which he later abandoned. He also asked Francis G. Caffey, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, to prosecute Rathom. Caffey refused.

Sevellon Brown, then and still a power in the Journal, vaguely believes the paper agreed to publish an apology. But no record of an apology seems to exist and the Senate Committee said that the charges had been proved to its satisfaction, therefore, the committee reported, the clergy and the Journal "deserve the thanks of the people and in particular the parents of boys in the navy."

The Journal's open-letter was a classic blast. It was placed in Roosevelt's own hand on Oct. 23 and published on Oct. 25.

It recounted that the Portsmouth prison, which always had been managed by a naval or marine officer, was turned over to Thomas Mott Osborne, late warden of Sing Sing, in December, 1917. Osborne, was a politician controlling "certain votes" who knew nothing of navy discipline. Roosevelt was a candidate for nomination for the Senate. While acting as warden at Sing Sing Osborne had come "under very serious charges." Homosexuality there had become a national scandal. An agent of the Department of Justice had reported that conditions at Portsmouth were "incredible." Inmates were writing to friends at sea in European waters urging them to get court-martialed and sent to Portsmouth where there were entertainments every night and little or no work.

Admiral Sims and others protested to Washington. The commander-in-chief of the home fleet ordered that deck-courts rather than general courts be used so that punishment could be worked out aboard ship.

The Journal flatly charged that Roosevelt personally directed the return to duty of a gob convicted of homosexual misconduct. By his order this man was released after 15 months of a ten-year term with permission to re-enlist although the sentence explicitly provided a dishonorable discharge.

The Bureau of Navigation, after some delay, authorized an "undesirable" discharge, but Roosevelt flatly ordered that the man be allowed to ship over.

Rathom's letter to Roosevelt said "in your own handwriting, you directed that . . . be permitted to re-enlist.

"You further asked why the issuing of the authority to give — an 'undesirable' discharge was not an act of insubordination after he had been restored to duty 'by my order.'

"A few days ago you publicly denied that you had destroyed or sequestered navy records. This was true and you know it to be true. It was interesting to every officer in the Bureau of Navigation and to the public to learn the truth concerning the disappearance of the papers in this case, especially the portion which contained the specimen of your own handwriting permitting him to re-enlist. You sent to the Bureau of Navigation for those papers. They were abstracted from the files by your personal order and they have never been returned.

"With your knowledge and consent there were elected as delegates to the so-called Welfare League at Portsmouth prison one murderer, three men convicted of unnatural crimes, and three men convicted of assault with intent to rape. You have earned the detestation and contempt of every patriot and skilled naval officer with whom you have come in contact."

CONTRADICTING THE EXPERTS

The unofficial vote totals for the 1954 general election contradict the many political specialists who said over and over that voters this year were apathetic. The turnout of some 43,400,000 citizens was a balloting record in a nonpresidential year.

Admittedly the total was 18,000,000 off the showing in 1952, the biggest presidential voting year in history. But the truer measure is with the 42,462,000 who voted in the previous record 1950 off-year.

Election day reports made it evident that voters over half the nation braved rain and snow to get to the polls. These accounts hardly fit a picture of popular apathy.

Apparently both politicians and the analysts who listen to them had a tendency to misread the silence of many voters. A severe fall-off from presidential peaks is always to be expected, especially when no really vital issues seem to be involved, as was the case this time. But the results suggest it is risky to exaggerate that decline.

Americans perhaps need to be educated to regard their off-year elections for Congress as seriously as they do their presidential battles. But until they do, the vote samplers probably ought to be more selective in trying to gauge apathy. The answer, at any given election, may lie with the steady voter. If he is staying away, then there would seem to be clear indication of apathy.

This time the steady voter, augmented by some new voters and by others who felt the very uneven impact of unemployment and sagging farm prices, made the talk of popular disinterest appear somewhat foolish.

The 1954 totals show that nationally the Democrats outpolled the Republicans by more than 1,750,000. But this figure is misleading, since most of the Democratic margin was built up in the Solid South. Outside that area, the Democratic advantage was a mere 370,000.

Spread that number of votes across more than 35 states and you can understand why there were so many photo-finishes on Nov. 2. It's fair to say that outside the South the two parties ended in a virtual tie in their bid for popular favor.

So it is true that the reliable off-year voters did not stay home. But neither major party found a way to stir the millions who customarily ignore nonpresidential elections. As a matter of fact, those who did come out demonstrated quite forcefully that neither party holds much charm for them.

What we say often determines us much more than we determine what we say.

NEW FORM OF GRAFT

A new form of graft has been exposed n New York City. The rather complicated swindle works this way:

A motorist anxious to get away with breaking the law buys or gets a card with the name of a motorcycle policeman on it. If he is stopped for violating a traffic law he surrenders the card and is waved on without getting a ticket. Later the cop whose name is on the card turns up to be paid. His fee is usually less than the standard fine. He splits the bribe with other cooperating police.

The scheme points up one thing. Government graft is seldom if ever possible without the participation of private citizens. It is wrong for policemen to take bribes. Most cops would scorn any dishonest money. But what of civilians who tempt them, who make dishonesty profitable?

The principle applies to other forms of graft in government as well. Government officials who grant special favors are despicable but the givers of bribes are equally guilty and equally deserving of contempt.

For some reason there are people who take pride in being able to "fix" a ticket. Most of them would never stoop to a bribe to to do so but they do call on politicians to get out of paying their fines. What they are really doing is offering good will and a sense of obligation in exchange for a favor and they are helping to corrupt office-holders.

The New York policemen who took part in the swindle are a disgrace to their uniforms and their honest brother officers. The motorists who participated are a disgrace to their citizenship.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SUICIDE OF THE RICH

Eugene Lyons raises an important point in "Human Events," when he writes on the suicide of the rich who support movements and individuals who seek their destruction. It is an important thesis; yet it must be remembered that Frederick Engels, who was Karl Marx's partner in revolutionary doctrine, was a large textile manufacturer; Prince Peter Kropotkin, who was what used to be called a philosophic anarchist, was of the Russian nobility; that most of the early leaders of the Bolsheviks were of the economic middle-class, and that in the United States, many of the Socialists of other generations, such as James G. Phelps Stokes and Robert Hunter, were men of means. Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Corliss Lamont do not stand out as exceptional leftists among the rich.

Eugene Lyons says:

"The tragic irony of it is that many former Communists find themselves in economic straits precisely because they are dedicated to exposing and fighting the Red faith they repudiated. Had they chosen, like the overwhelming majority of the disillusioned, to crawl away in silence, they would have evaded the ostracism, the ordeal by sneer, which have been their portion. In the liberal vocabulary, the opposite of a 'professional ex-Communist' is not an amateur ex-Communist but an ex-Communist who pleads the Fifth Amendment."

Anti-Communist organizations generally operate on a pittance and any effort to raise money for them is a most unpleasant experience. Men whose selfish interests might be protected by opposition to Communism seem to fear to have their names associated with such causes. On the other hand, organizations like the National Committee for an Effective Congress or the Fund for the Republic, which throw road-blocks in the way of anti-Communists, are well-heeled. The various Jewish organizations which exist to fight anti-Semitism raise millions of dollars every year, even if sometimes their labors involve shadow-boxing, but the American Jewish League Against Communism has to pass the hat to pay its rent and its one employe, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, often is not paid at all.

The explanation perhaps lies in the fact that class-consciousness is not a normal characteristic of a classless society and the United States is a classless society. If Federick Vanderbilt Field chooses to be a Communist, he acts as an individual and not as a member of a class-conscious group. When some of the ultra-rich hated Franklin D. Roosevelt because he "betrayed his class," they failed to realize that he belonged to no class. He was an opportunistic politician who happened to read his times correctly and took advantage of the situation.

In the fight against Communism, curious social phenomena are constantly being encountered. For instance, a lawyer who is an anti-Communist, who delivers speeches on private enterprise and the dignity of man, may be found advising his clients in such a way as to strengthen the Communists. He may even be a Roman Catholic who contributes to fighting Communism; yet, in the motion picture business he might be the stumbling block to any effort to clean up the situation in Hollywood. Is he a hypocrite? Not at all. He is a lawyer who can separate, in his mind, his philosophy of life from the necessities of his clients.

That kind of thinking is current in this country. It has nothing to do with the rich protecting their property; it does have to do with large segments of our people not being able to adjust their minds to the realities of the Communist conspiracy. They can speak of it forthrightly at a dinner party; it plays no part in the life of their offices.

The fact must be faced by a man like Eugene Lyons, who is expert in the subject, that most intelligent Americans have been educated vocationally but are ignorant of philosophy and history which they left, at college, to the long-haired boys and short-haired girls. Even in the anti-Communist movement, among those who are most active, ignorance of Marxism is appalling. Most of these men and women often take the right positions for the wrong reasons, which means that what they do sometimes gives aid and comfort to the enemy. The theoretical basis of a movement that now encompasses 800,000,000 human beings is utterly unknown to them. And because they do not know what they are fighting, they do not fight effectively.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

IS YOUR CHILD READY FOR SCHOOL?

Sometimes parents are so anxious for the child to get started at school that he or she is sent before really ready and hence has considerable difficulty in doing what is expected or in getting along with teacher and classmates. For instance, a child may have a well-developed body and in outward appearance be a large child for his age and yet be quite undeveloped in getting along with other children. Similarly a six-year-old child may be as advanced as a seven-year-old in use of language and yet be very clumsy in the use of his hands in handling tools or drawing.

Dr. F. Weinberg of the University of Toronto in the magazine "Health" gives parents some valuable advice in outlining a list of things a child should have learned before he is ready for school:

1. He should have learned to attend to his own toilet needs without supervision; to wash his own hands and face.

2. To dress and undress himself without help with a few exceptions such as snowsuits and shoelaces.

3. He should have acquired a fair degree of control of the larger muscles such as in running, jumping, climbing. He should be able to understand simple directions and carry them out.

4. He should have learned to accept necessary rules and regulations.

5. He should speak clearly and readily with no baby talk.

6. He should be content without his parents, able to go places without them, stay at home when they are not there.

7. He should have already discarded temper tantrums as a means of gettting his own way.

8. He should have learned to play with other children without too much quarreling.

It is certainly a lot for a child to learn in a few short years. The overprotected child will have special difficulty in adjusting to school life as he has become accustomed to having his parents fight his battles for him and make his decisions for him.

"The physical preparation of the child starting to school consists firstly of a complete physical examination by his own doctor whom he knows. This will uncover defects of hearing, vision and growth, etc., if present. A visit to the dentist for a thorough examination is also a must for the child starting school."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — A tremendous amount of unpublicized work on rearming Western Germany has already been done by the U. S. Department of Defense. Much of the planning has already been completed and large volumes of military supplies have been accumulated in the U. S.

Delivery of these supplies for equipping the German army can be begun as soon as the agreements recently signed at Paris can be ratified by Germany, the North Atlantic Treaty and Western European Union countries. This ratification is now hoped for by February, 1955, at the earliest, but it will probably be some months later.

It will be two years after ratification before Germany has her 12 army divisions and auxiliary troops. It will be another year before the German air force and navy can be made fully operative.

It would be foolish to start counting these troops as already mobilized on the side of the Western powers. But it would be wrong to think that Germany has to start from absolute scratch in building up its forces.

ON RECRUITING and training the approximately 500,000 troops, the Germans do have to begin at the beginning. But plans have already been worked out for a draft system similar to that of the United States. This draft will be supplemented by volunteers.

The West German police force will not be moved over into the new German army en masse. Some officers and noncommissioned officers who are veterans of past wars may transfer over to the new force. But there is no German "army of 100,000 sergeants," such as Adolf Hitler had when he started to build up the Wehrmacht.

Officer, pilot and noncom schools will naturally come first for retraining German veterans. The rookies will be largely draftees in their late teens and early twenties, like new American privates.

Most of the old German barracks are now occupied by American, British and French occupation troops. They will stay on. Contracts for some new camps and training areas still have to be let.

German airfields, supply centers and other military installations have already been largely built and paid for by German money in the last four years. This money has come from the occupation costs paid by Germany to the U. S., Britain and France.

THESE PAYMENTS AMOUNTED TO $100 million a month from 1946 through 1951 and $143 million a month from 1952 through 1954. The total is over $12 billion.

A German military budget has already been provided for. Now amounting to $1.7 billion a year in occupation costs, it will go to about $3 billion a year when Germany has her own armed forces.

Germany will provide all the uniforms, pay, subsistence, light arms and ammunition for her own troops. It will, of course, take some time to get German military production lines rolling.

The United States will supply aircraft, ships, tanks, heavy artillery and the big items of military equipment, which take a longer time to produce for the initial equipment. The new treaties, of course, prohibit German production of atomic and special weapons. There is no provision that Britain and France will share the costs of German heavy equipment.

EARLY IN JANUARY, however, there will be a meeting of European military officials in London to work out plans for an arms production pool, suggested by French Premier Mendes-France.

The amount of U. S. money appropriated for the initial German army equipment has never been made public. The figures are buried in U. S. Mutual Security program appropriations which are announced only by area totals.

It is known that there was no appropriation for Germany in this year's U. S. military budget, but there were appropriations in the two years previous. All this action was taken in anticipation of adoption of the European Defense Community plan. Though EDC was killed, this planning and procurement were not wasted. They will provide just as effective military aid for Germany under the new Western European Union.

Whether a supplemental German military aid appropriation will be asked for when Congress returns in January, and whether an extra German aid appropriation will be asked for fiscal 1956 have not been decided. They will depend on the progress of treaty ratification. Before any U. S. aid can go to Germany, of course, a standard military assistance agreement will have to be made between the two countries.

Knowland's Desire Is to Bring Russian Intentions Out Into Open

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 17—Everybody in the government here, including the Congress, seems to be in favor of "co-existence" with Soviet Russia but nobody is quite sure it's going to be "peaceful."

That's the crux of the debate precipitated Tuesday by Sen. Knowland, Republican of California, majority leader, who wants to discuss frankly and in the open just what the present Communist activities in the world really mean.

This doesn't mean that Mr. Knowland is necessarily at variance with the White House. Nor is there any real evidence that either the President or the Secretary of State are averse to having the Senate debate the issues. For it is apparent that, as Secretary Dulles himself told a press conference after the Knowland speech, there is some difference of opinion between Moscow and Washington as to just what "peaceful co-existence" means.

So far as this government and perhaps also most all of the Western countries known as part of the free world are concerned, "peaceful co-existence" means honorable intercourse, a willingness to keep out of each other's affairs, and particularly it means the absence of any aggression.

But the suspicion here, which is shared by the executive branch of the government, is that, just as the Soviet Union claims it is a "democracy," so will it also distort the meaning of "peaceful co-existence."

To the United States, "peaceful co-existence" does not mean the repeated shooting down of planes on peaceful errands or a threat to invade weaker countries such as is now being witnessed in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

Since it is apparent that Moscow isn't sincere and refuses to be peaceful, the debate on what "co-existence" means has been opened up in timely fashion by Sen. Knowland. There are indications that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who speaks as Democratic party leader, and other Democrats in Congress are aware of the importance of full discussion, especially as it relates to the meaning of "peaceful co-existence." It is of the utmost importance, too, that Soviet Russia should not misconstrue the meaning of the last election. In Britain, Clement Attlee of the Labor party was quoted not long ago as saying that a Democratic victory in the Congressional elections would mean a change in America's stand against admission of Red China into the United Nations.

There are some Democrats, like Sen. Hennings of Missouri, who by their speeches at any rate give the impression that they believe there is no alternative to "peaceful co-existence" except an atomic war. There are, moreover, some impressions conveyed occasionally by the President's remarks at his press conferences which have led to a belief that he is against war no matter how much American rights may be violated.

The truth is the President is not a "peace at any price" man and has never deliberately given that impression. On the contrary, he is the kind of President who, like Woodrow Wilson, is known for his pacific desires and tendencies, but, when the big overt act comes and there is no alternative but to fight it out, he courageously makes that decision.

The big wars in history have come because the enemy has misconstrued the patience of the democracies and miscalculated what they might do if their allies were attacked.

The purpose of the debate started by Sen. Knowland is to let Soviet Russia know that America isn't going to sit passively by while the Communists gobble up nation after nation in Asia or while they carry on their subversive propaganda inside peaceful nations. The idea of severing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union is often mentioned by Mr. Knowland as one of the alternatives of war. It is a step considered as one means of impressing the Soviet that she cannot count on the "co-existence" policy that envisages a continuance of the "cold war" by the Soviets.

Something more than mere talk about peace is being sought. Sen. Knowland's remarks, which have already been misinterpreted as belligerent and probably will be twisted by critics who want a "peace at any price" policy, are designed solely to apply moral force to prevent a third world war from breaking out. That's why the debate that has started is a healthy sign. It may be that Moscow will be convinced by the discussion that there is more for the Soviet government to do on the "peaceful" end of "co-existence" than has been apparent thus far from Moscow.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is evidence that the high incidence of sexual perversion in the State Department in the Roosevelt administration reflected a tolerant attitude in the White House. That evidence exists in a forgotten expose initiated by Bishop James De Wolf Perry, Jr., of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island, in the summer of 1919. Bishop Perry obtained evidence that young naval bluejackets at the Newport station had been assigned to the duty of obtaining evidence of homosexuality. A Senate committee later proved that Franklin D. Roosevelt, as assistant secretary, had secretly organized a special squad of bluejackets for this duty and had resorted, in part, to verbal orders to escape responsibility on the record.

Bishop Perry personally complained to Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy and Roosevelt's chief, in September, 1919. On January 18, 1920, John R. Rathom, editor of the Providence Journal, wired charges to each member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee and demanded an investigation not by the navy but by the Senate.

The committee hopped to it. Its report was a scornful denunciation of Roosevelt. It also rebuked Daniels for "disapproving" an adverse report on Roosevelt's conduct by a naval court of inquiry under Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn. Daniels rejected the court's finding that Roosevelt's employment of young bluejackets in this activity was "unfortunate, ill-advised" and "to be condemned." The Senate committee said it was "most reprehensible." It was "a most deplorable, disgraceful and unnatural proceeding."

The violent open-letter which the Journal published on Oct. 25, 1920, brought Roosevelt into the Supreme Court of New York county with a libel suit for $500,000, which he later abandoned. He also asked Francis G. Caffey, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, to prosecute Rathom. Caffey refused.

Sevellon Brown, then and still a power in the Journal, vaguely believes the paper agreed to publish an apology. But no record of an apology seems to exist and the Senate Committee said that the charges had been proved to its satisfaction, therefore, the committee reported, the clergy and the Journal "deserve the thanks of the people and in particular the parents of boys in the navy."

The Journal's open-letter was a classic blast. It was placed in Roosevelt's own hand on Oct. 23 and published on Oct. 25.

It recounted that the Portsmouth prison, which always had been managed by a naval or marine officer, was turned over to Thomas Mott Osborne, late warden of Sing Sing, in December, 1917. Osborne, was a politician controlling "certain votes" who knew nothing of navy discipline. Roosevelt was a candidate for nomination for the Senate. While acting as warden at Sing Sing Osborne had come "under very serious charges." Homosexuality there had become a national scandal. An agent of the Department of Justice had reported that conditions at Portsmouth were "incredible." Inmates were writing to friends at sea in European waters urging them to get court-martialed and sent to Portsmouth where there were entertainments every night and little or no work.

Admiral Sims and others protested to Washington. The commander-in-chief of the home fleet ordered that deck-courts rather than general courts be used so that punishment could be worked out aboard ship.

The Journal flatly charged that Roosevelt personally directed the return to duty of a gob convicted of homosexual misconduct. By his order this man was released after 15 months of a ten-year term with permission to re-enlist although the sentence explicitly provided a dishonorable discharge.

The Bureau of Navigation, after some delay, authorized an "undesirable" discharge, but Roosevelt flatly ordered that the man be allowed to ship over.

Rathom's letter to Roosevelt said "in your own handwriting, you directed that . . . be permitted to re-enlist.

"You further asked why the issuing of the authority to give — an 'undersirable' discharge was not an act of insubordination after he had been restored to duty 'by my order.'

"A few days ago you publicly denied that you had destroyed or sequestered navy records. This was true and you know it to be true. It was interesting to every officer in the Bureau of Navigation and to the public to learn the truth concerning the disappearance of the papers in this case, especially the portion which contained the specimen of your own handwriting permitting him to re-enlist. You sent to the Bureau of Navigation for those papers. They were abstracted from the files by your personal order and they have never been returned.

"With your knowledge and consent there were elected as delegates to the so-called Welfare League at Portsmouth prison one murderer, three men convicted of unnatural crimes, and three men convicted of assault with intent to rape. You have earned the detestation and contempt of every patriot and skilled naval officer with whom you have come in contact."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Think and Win In Bridge Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand would pose no problem to the rubber bridge player. You could practically throw the hand against the wall and still lose only two spades and a diamond at most. In a tournament, however, you would get practically no score at all for winning only ten tricks. You would have to concentrate on winning an overtrick.

When the hand was actually played in a recent tournament, many of the West players opened the king of spades. This gave the declarer no trouble at all. He could win with the ace of spades, draw trumps and eventually lead a spade towards dummy's jack. This line of play would result in the loss of only one diamond and one spade.

At one table, West opened the jack of diamonds, a better choice. Mel Lobell, the New York expert who was playing the South hand, played a low diamond from the dummy, and East overtook with the queen of diamonds in order to return the nine of spades.

This sequence of plays, combined with West's spade overcall, made the situation quite clear. Lobell therefore put up the ace of spades to win the second trick.

Declarer next drew three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and ruffed a small diamond. The rest of the plan was to lead three rounds of clubs, ending in dummy, and then return the king of diamonds from the dummy.

East had to play the ace of diamonds (it would have done him no good to duck), and Lobell discarded one of his two low spades, allowing East to win the trick.

At this point East had only diamonds and clubs left. It didn't matter what he led, for declarer would discard his last low spade and ruff in the dummy, thus making sure of the extra trick.

On December 7, 1941, the U. S. had 54 destroyers in the Pacific Fleet. Today there are 125.

Fall Business Pickup Shows Manufacturers Are Rushed

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The fall business pickup is pleasantly fattening the order books of many manufacturers today.

Some consumers — especially those in the metal trades—who let their inventories drop in anticipation of lower prices—are reported now to be rushing to order new supplies. And in some cases they are finding the supplies tight and order books filled.

This is especially true for users of copper. Widespread belief last spring that copper would tumble from its perch at 30 cents a pound, led to inventory cutting. Strikes last summer cut off supplies. And the scramble for copper became so intense, worldwide, that the U. S. Government has had to release copper from its stockpile to keep U. S. brass and wire mills going.

STEEL MILLS are now reporting a rush for cold rolled sheets. Return of the auto makers to production on new models after the plant shutdowns of early fall set off a flood of orders to the steel mills. Other users of steel sheets then rushed to get on the mills' order books.

Some mills are reported resorting to a mild form of rationing to assure all their regular customers of getting what they need.

Steel production continues to rise. This week it is expected to hit 79 per cent of capacity, the best rate since the middle of last December. Orders on the books indicate that production will continue high for the rest of the year and may bring the total for the fourth quarter above the 75 per cent average that was formerly predicted.

THE OIL INDUSTRY is looking up, also, as an occasional cold wave from Canada warns consumers that the heating season is at hand. The demand outlook has improved enough for the Texas authorities to raise slightly the amount of crude oil that can be produced there next month.

The approach of cold weather, however, has had little effect so far on construction activities. Building continues at a high rate. Easing of financing rules keeps the home building boom rolling along.

The Labor and Commerce Departments, pooling their forecasting talents, predicts that total construction outlays—setting new highs this year—will rise to still higher record levels next year. A gain of seven per cent is seen, with total expenditures at 40 billion dollars.

THEY LOOK for industrial construction to slacken a bit, but for this to be more than offset by rises in home building and in the construction of stores, offices and shopping centers. A five per cent increase in public construction—schools, highways, and the like—is anticipated.

Merchants are already profiting from the pickup in fall business with the big holiday buying rush yet to come. Many are expecting to equal or pass their 1953 sales marks when the final Christmas shopper has been served.

Chain and mail order stores, who have been trailing 1953 sales figures for most of the year, began to feel the pickup in October. Their sales in October, as reported so far, show the month topping October, 1953—one of the few times this year that business has better than last.

STOCKHOLDERS' mail is heavier these days. Christmas dividend bonuses are beginning to appear. A number of the large corporations have already passed last year's payment levels and are sweetening their year-end handouts.

The Commerce Department reports that corporations in the first 10 months of the year paid seven billion dollars in cash dividends, 500 million dollars more than in the same period of 1953. Stock dividends and year-end cash extras are expected to bring the total well above 1953.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

ALONG the holly-shaded by-ways of Tin Pan Alley, where the mistletoe-mambo grows, the annual rash of new Christmas songs has begun. This Christmas-song business is to song publishers what the daily double is to horse-players—a big gamble for big dough. Most of them lose their pink shirts.

There are too many new songs to list. There always are. But the one that will get the biggest promotion—and thereby has the best chance for fame—is called "Home for the Holidays." Perry Como will record it for RCA. And sing it on his TV show. And probably whistle it in his shower.

Carol Bruce, appearing in "Pal Joey" in England, takes time to write long letters to friends about her impressions. This excerpt is intriguing:

"In reading all the newspapers here regularly, it has suddenly dawned on me that there is no such thing as a gossip column . . . which I think is rather wonderfully refreshing . . . There is no emphasis on clandestine affairs, malicious gossip or the kind of probing into one's personal life that we find in our American so-called gossip columns.

Shakespeare off-Broadway, too. A new company, the Shakespearewrights, has taken over the Yorkville Jan Hus Auditorium and has an interesting production of "Twelfth Night." It's Shakespeare with the audience up close, like in the Elizabethan days. The stage is a T-shape, with the audience sitting on all three sides of the stem. The effect is to bring the actors closer.

Australia is being invaded. By a string of American recording artists. Seems the people down under go for the singers from up over. Nat "King" Cole and Billy Daniels are just two booked for tours—Daniels in December and Cole in January. They're booked to sing in sports arenas, because of the expected crowds.

Cole, incidentally, just signed a new seven-year contract with Capitol that is scheduled to net him $2,000,000. How many juke-box nickels is that?

Bridge to Reality

Mackinaw City, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Johnson, who works in a tourist information booth here, will be happy when the Straits of Mackinac bridge is completed in 1957. Mrs. Johnson has been running into people for years who try to prove to her there already is a bridge across the straits. One woman claimed proof positive the bridge existed. She produced a post card with a picture of the bridge on it. The picture was an artist's drawing of how the bridge would look after it is completed.

Some mills are reported resorting to a mild form of rationing to assure all their regular customers of getting what they need.

Steel production continues to rise. This week it is expected to hit 79 per cent of capacity, the best rate since the middle of last December. Orders on the books indicate that production will continue high for the rest of the year and may bring the total for the fourth quarter above the 75 per cent average that was formerly predicted.

THE OIL INDUSTRY is looking up, also, as an occasional cold wave from Canada warns consumers that the heating season is at hand. The demand outlook has improved enough for the Texas authorities to raise slightly the amount of crude oil that can be produced there next month.

The approach of cold weather, however, has had little effect so far on construction activities. Building continues at a high rate. Easing of financing rules keeps the home building boom rolling along.

The Labor and Commerce Departments, pooling their forecasting talents, predicts that total construction outlays—setting new highs this year—will rise to still higher record levels next year. A gain of seven per cent is seen, with total expenditures at 40 billion dollars.

THEY LOOK for industrial construction to slacken a bit, but for this to be more than offset by rises in home building and in the construction of stores, offices and shopping centers. A five per cent increase in public construction—schools, highways, and the like—is anticipated.

Merchants are already profiting from the pickup in fall business with the big holiday buying rush yet to come.Many are expecting to equal or pass their 1953 sales marks when the final Christmas shopper has been served.

Chain and mail order stores, who have been trailing 1953 sales figures for most of the year, began to feel the pickup in October. Their sales in October, as reported so far, show the month topping October, 1953—one of the few times this year that business has better than last.

STOCKHOLDERS' mail is heavier these days. Christmas dividend bonuses are beginning to appear. A number of the large corporations have already passed last year's payment levels and are sweetening their year-end handouts.

The Commerce Department reports that corporations in the first 10 months of the year paid seven billion dollars in cash dividends, 500 million dollars more than in the same period of 1953. Stock dividends and year-end cash extras are expected to bring the total well above 1953.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

ALONG the holly-shaded by-ways of Tin Pan Alley, where the mistletoe-mambo grows, the annual rash of new Christmas songs has begun. This Christmas-song business is to song publishers what the daily double is to horse-players—a big gamble for big dough. Most of them lose their pink shirts.

There are too many new songs to list. There always are. But the one that will get the biggest promotion—and thereby has the best chance for fame—is called "Home for the Holidays." Perry Como will record it for RCA. And sing it on his TV show. And probably whistle it in his shower.

Carol Bruce, appearing in "Pal Joey" in England, takes time to write long letters to friends about her impressions. This excerpt is intriguing:

"In reading all the newspapers here regularly, it has suddenly dawned on me that there is no such thing as a gossip column . . . which I think is rather wonderfully refreshing . . . There is no emphasis on clandestine affairs, malicious gossip or the kind of probing into one's personal life that we find in our American so-called gossip columns.

Shakespeare off-Broadway, too. A new company, the Shakespearewrights, has taken over the Yorkville Jan Hus Auditorium and has an interesting production of "Twelfth Night." It's Shakespeare with the audience up close, like in the Elizabethan days. The stage is a T-shape, with the audience sitting on all three sides of the stem. The effect is to bring the actors closer.

Australia is being invaded. By a string of American recording artists. Seems the people down under go for the singers from up over. Nat "King" Cole and Billy Daniels are just two booked for tours—Daniels in December and Cole in January. They're booked to sing in sports arenas, because of the expected crowds.

Cole, incidentally, just signed a new seven-year contract with Capitol that is scheduled to net him $2,000,000. How many juke-box nickels is that?

Bridge to Reality

Mackinaw City, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Johnson, who works in a tourist information booth here, will be happy when the Straits of Mackinac bridge is completed in 1957. Mrs. Johnson has been running into people for years who try to prove to her there already is a bridge across the straits. One woman claimed proof positive the bridge existed. She produced a post card with a picture of the bridge on it. The picture was an artist's drawing of how the bridge would look after it is completed.

Runway Siesta

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—The marvels of the air age bowed meekly to human frailty here when a lost and bewildered old lady halted traffic on Kanawha Airport. Mrs. Elizabeth Haviland, 92, walked onto the runway and calmly sat down to rest. Four big airliners were waved off while personnel of the Air National Guard scrambled out to escort her from the field. "I've been hunting hazel nuts," she told Deputy Sheriff M. V. Lazare. She was later identified by her son and taken home.

Support Pledged To Farm Bureau By Agents in State

Syracuse, Nov. 17 (AP)—New York's county agricultural agents have pledged their support to the State Farm Bureau Federation's move for separation from the State Extension Service—a proposal that has won the approval of the state argiculture commissioner.

Howard W. Matott, president of the State Assn. of County Agricultural Agents, and Agriculture Commissioner C. Chester Du Mond, praised the plan yesterday in speeches before the federation's 39th annual meeting.

In a surprise, unexplained move at the closing session yesterday, Warren W. Hawley, Jr. of Batavia resigned as president of the 77,000-member federation after 12 years in the post.

THE DELEGATES elected Don J. Wickham of Hector to succeed him. Wickham had served as vice-president of the organization.

Donald S. Green of Chazy was chosen to replace Wickham. Other officers were re-elected.

Matott, Chenango county agent told the federation that the state's 56 county agents considered the decision to seek separation from the Extension Service "a wise one and best for all agricultural interest of our state."

The delegates voted Monday in favor of the separation and federation officials said a bill would be introduced in the 1955 Legislature to sever the legal tie between the two organizations.

THE EXTENSION service, which is financed by county, state and federal funds, performs technological research for farmers. County agents direct the work.

Du Mond, final speaker at the three-day meeting, said he was "convinced that there is an ever-increasing need under our changing conditions for an independent farm organization."

He said such a need could be fulfilled only by reorganization of the farm bureau. The commissioner added:

"We must be sure that the farmers' interests are protected whichever party is in power in the state, or whichever party proposes a measure affecting our business."

Hawley, who also had served for 25 years as a federation director, could not be reached for comment on his resignation.

But Jacob Pratt, a farm bureau director, and Charles H. Baldwin, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, both said Hawley thought "it was time for a younger man to take over."

Baldwin said: "Twelve years is an awful long time. Everybody wanted him to continue to be president."

Goldstein Refuses Accommodations At Arizona Hotel

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein, protesting what he termed a discriminatory policy, today refused to accept accommodations at an Arizona hotel where the National Association of Attorneys General holds its annual convention next month.

The convention is to open Dec. 8 at the Camelback Inn at Phoenix. Jewish groups earlier had urged without success that the convention be shifted to another location.

GOLDSTEIN, a member of the Jewish faith, notified association officials that while he will attend the convention, he will not register or live at the Camelback.

"I could not retain my self respect as an American and as an individual if I condoned this apparently hypocritical policy," Goldstein wrote Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia, association president.

Previously, Goldstein had engaged in a controversy with Cook which led to shifting of the convention from Biloxi, Miss., to Phoenix.

THIS DISPUTE arose when Cook announced he would not ask United States Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to speak at the convention—as is customary for those holding his office—because Brownell led the government's recent Supreme Court fight against school segregation.

Goldstein's letter to Cook in the new episode was made public by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal organization.

The league said the hotel first promised Atty. Gen. Ross F. Jones of Arizona "a change in our policy." Later, the league said, the hotel wrote the league saying its guest selection policy would "remain the same as it has been in the past."

The league said Camelback's managing director, Jack Stewart, wrote it in part:

"It is true that Camelback has been patronized by a gentile clientele, but very occasionally, we have had a few Jewish guests whom we have carefully selected. We intend to follow this policy in the future . . ."

Goldstein Refuses Accommodations At Arizona Hotel

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein, protesting what he termed a discriminatory policy, today refused to accept accommodations at an Arizona hotel where the National Association of Attorneys General holds its annual convention next month.

The convention is to open Dec. 8 at the Camelback Inn at Phoenix. Jewish groups earlier had urged without success that the convention be shifted to another location.

GOLDSTEIN, a member of the Jewish faith, notified association officials that while he will attend the convention, he will not register or live at the Camelback.

"I could not retain my self respect as an American and as an individual if I condoned this apparently hypocritical policy," Goldstein wrote Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia, association president.

Previously, Goldstein had engaged in a controversy with Cook which led to shitting of the convention from Biloxi, Miss., to Phoenix.

THIS DISPUTE arose when Cook announced he would not ask United States Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to speak at the convention—as is customary for those holding his office—because Brownell led the government's recent Supreme Court fight against school segregation.

Goldstein's letter to Cook in the new episode was made public by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal organization.

The league said the hotel first promised Atty. Gen. Ross F. Jones of Arizona "a change in our policy." Later, the league said, the hotel wrote the league saying its guest selection policy would "remain the same as it has been in the past."

The league said Camelback's managing director, Jack Stewart, wrote it in part:

"It is true that Camelback has been patronized by a gentile clientele, but very occasionally, we have had a few Jewish guests whom we have carefully selected. We intend to follow this policy in the future . . ."

Acquited of Kidnaping

Welland, Ont., Nov. 17 (AP)—A County Court jury acquited Mrs. Marjorie Gampel of Rochester, N. Y., yesterday of a charge of kidnaping her two children, Miriam 6, and Mike, 3. The prosecution contended that the woman, following a separation from her husband and a court order giving him custody of the children, took them in April to live in Rochester with her parents. In June she brought the children to Niagara Falls, N. Y., to see their father. He drove the group across the border to Niagara Falls, Ont., where Mrs. Gampel was arrested. She was deported to the United States and later extradited for trial. Mrs. Gampel testified she had believed she was entitled to take the children because her husband would not let her see them.

Zoo Employed Gored

Ithaca, Nov. 17 (AP)—An albino deer, described as "onery for two weeks," yesterday gored a Stewart Park Zoo employe and dragged the injured man more than 100 feet along the ground before being driven off. Cornelius Edsall, 50, ground foreman at the zoo, was reported in good condition at Tompkins County Memorial Hospital. He suffered possible fractures of the knee and ribs, contusions of the chest and back and lacerations of a hand. The deer attacked Edsall when he entered an enclosure to remove the animal. Another park employe, Fred Deeley, saw Edsall gored, and raced into the enclosure to drive the deer off with a pitchfork.

Taxpayer Burden Could Be Cut by Proper Probation

A large percentage of persons, both adults and children now in state prisons and correctional institutions would be "on the streets" today if adequate probation services had been available, Charles Antolina of Buffalo, probation examiner with the New York State Division of Probation, told the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies yesterday afternoon.

Some authorities place the figure at approximately 50 per cent, Antolina said.

He pointed out the tremendous cost to the citizens to support this prison and institutional population, a cost which could be cut drastically with proper probation facilities.

HE SAID ADEQUATE probation services would also reduce sharply the number of persons going to such institutions in the first place. Approximately one person out of three now entering institutions would be rehabilitated and absorbed into community life under the supervision and guidance of a probation officer.

Antolina also called attention to the fact that about 95 per cent of those in prison and correctional institutions ultimately return to the community and need the skilled guidance and encouragement of trained probation officers to reenter the community from which they were expelled.

HE SAID MOST counties in the state were seriously understaffed for effective probation work. Ulster county, for instance, has only one probation officer. A few counties have as many as six persons in their probation departments, however.

Antolina pointed out that probation for children allowed them to remain in their own home, offered them guidance, assisted them in making adjustments at home, in school and in the community and avoided the stigma of training school commitment.

It allows adults to remain at home where they are given the opportunity of being reeducated to responsibile citizenship with the help of friends, employer and community. It does not subject them to the regimentation of prison or reformatory life which often has a crippling effect on personality, and it avoids the stigma of a prison or reformatory sentence.

IT ALSO saves the community money. The average per capita cost of care in penal institutions in New York state for 1952 was $1,605. The average cost of probation was less than one-tenth this amount.

The probationer is also able to provide for his family from his earnings. The family of a prisoner must fend for itself or become a recipient of public assistance. The probationer contributes to the economy of the community through his employment and purchases in the community. The prisoner is a drain upon the economy of the community since both he and his family must depend upon the community for support during the period of his incarceration.

Antolina stressed the importance of selectivity in determining who should go to prison or reformatory and who should not. It is a matter of "separating the sheep from the goats." Many persons are criminal in nature and must go to prison, he said, but many go who could be rehabilitated and become useful citizens.

HE EXPLAINED that the probation department, properly staffed, could screen cases coming into court so that domestic relations cases and cases involving minor charges against children could be treated without the formality of a court hearing if it is in the best interests of society and the individual to do so.

Through investigation, probation presents data to be used by the court to determine which individuals may prove amenable to supervision in the community and which individuals should be committed to a prison or a reformative institution.

Through supervision, the probation officer tries to induce a positive change in the habits, attitude, values and social relationships of the probationer by guiding him and assisting him to draw upon his own resources and those of the community to achieve these ends.

He called attention to the following definition of probation:

"PROBATION is a modern approach to the prevention and treatment of crime. It aims at the control of criminal activity through treatment of the individual. It is predicated upon the principle that human conduct is conditioned by past experience and can be changed through skilled guidance and reeducation. It proposes to give to the individual who has broken the law a chance to prove to himself and the community that he can learn to accept the responsibilities of citizenship in a free community under the guidance of a probation officer. It can operate only in a free democratic atmosphere where the citizen has an opportunity to do something about his own destiny. It is an uniquely American contribution to criminal justice. It is today's most promising weapon in the arsenal of those combatting delinquency and crime."

Adrian Kaplan, president of the local council, presided. Edward Burhans, Ulster county probation officer, introduced the speaker. Also attending was William T. Smith, probation examiner for the Hudson Valley area.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Heavy demand for railroads today sent the stock market boiling ahead in the early afternoon.

Prices were strong with gains going to around 2 points. At the same time there were many losses, some of them quite heavy because of corporate developments.

Twice in the first two hours the tape was forced to lag in reporting actual floor transactions. The pace was right around the heaviest levels of the year.

The market displayed little hesitancy at the opening and marched right ahead. Immediately after the start the tape was four minutes late. Again shortly before noon the tape was late two minutes. In both cases the congestion lasted only a short time.

Goodrich, up 3¾ yesterday, dropped back today between 6 and 7 points at times after directors proposed a two-for-one split and an increase in the dividend.

Watch Removed After Blood Dry, Coroner Advises

Cleveland, Nov. 17 (AP)—The wrist watch Marilyn Sheppard wore the night she was murdered was ripped off after the blood on her wrist had dried, Coroner S. R. Gerber testified today.

The coroner, pointing to a picture of the pretty young woman's wrist for the jury trying her osteopath husband for murder, said his examination 'indicates the bracelet (of the watch) was in position when the blood stains were wet."

"IT REMAINED in position until the blood was dry," said the coroner.

Gerber's testimony was aimed at knocking down Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's contention that a prowler killed his wife and snatched the watch from her wrist, later dropping it while ransacking the house.

The blod-stained watch was was discovered on the floor near where Sheppard sat stripped to the waist the morning of the murder.

The wrist watch testimony was the second "surprise" clue hurled by the state at Chief Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan.

The first was Gerber's statement that the bloody outline of a surgical instrument was discovered on the murdered woman's pillow.

THE ORTHOPEDIC Frame Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., said today the prosecutor's office had mailed it a copy of the bloody imprint.

The comppany was asked whether the imprint matches any surgical instrument it has made and sold to the Bay View hospital where the osteopaths in the Sheppard family practice.

Acquited of Kidnaping

Welland, Ont., Nov. 17 (AP)—A County Court jury acquited Mrs. Marjorie Gampel of Rochester, N. Y., yesterday of a charge of kidnaping her two children, Miriam 6, and Mike, 3. The prosecution contended that the woman, following a separation from her husband and a court order giving him custody of the children, took them in April to live in Rochester with her parents. In June she brought the children to Niagara Falls, N. Y., to see their father. He drove the group across the border to Niagara Falls, Ont., where Mrs. Gampel was arrested. She was deported to the United States and later extradited for trial. Mrs. Gampel testified she had believed she was entitled to take the children because her husband would not let her see them.

Ithaca, Nov. 17 (AP)—An albino deer, described as "onery for two weeks," yesterday gored a Stewart Park Zoo employe and dragged the injured man more than 100 feet along the ground before being driven off. Cornelius Edsall, 50, ground foreman at the zoo, was reported in good condition at Tompkins County Memorial Hospital. He suffered possible fractures of the knee and ribs, contusions of the chest and back and lacerations of a hand. The deer attacked Edsall when he entered an enclosure to remove the animal. Another park employe, Fred Deeley, saw Edsall gored, and raced into the enclosure to drive the deer off with a pitchfork.

Taxpayer Burden Could Be Cut by Proper Probation

A large percentage of persons, both adults and children now in state prisons and correctional institutions would be "on the streets" today if adequate probation services had been available, Charles Antolina of Buffalo, probation examiner with the New York State Division of Probation, told the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies yesterday afternoon.

Some authorities place the figure at approximately 50 per cent, Antolina said.

He pointed out the tremendous cost to the citizens to support this prison and institutional population, a cost which could be cut drastically with proper probation facilities.

HE SAID ADEQUATE probation services would also reduce sharply the number of persons going to such institutions in the first place. Approximately one person out of three now entering institutions would be rehabilitated and absorbed into community life under the supervision and guidance of a probation officer.

Antolina also called attention to the fact that about 95 per cent of those in prison and correctional institutions ultimately return to the community and need the skilled guidance and encouragement of trained probation officers to reenter the community from which they were expelled.

HE SAID MOST counties in the state were seriously understaffed for effective probation work. Ulster county, for instance, has only one probation officer. A few counties have as many as six persons in their probation departments, however.

Antolina pointed out that probation for children allowed them to remain in their own home, offered them guidance, assisted them in making adjustments at home, in school and in the community and avoided the stigma of training school commitment.

It allows adults to remain at home where they are given the opportunity of being reeducated to responsibile citizenship with the help of friends, employer and community. It does not subject them to the regimentation of prison or reformatory life which often has a crippling effect on personality, and it avoids the stigma of a prison or reformatory sentence.

IT ALSO saves the community money. The average per capita cost of care in penal institutions in New York state for 1952 was $1,605. The average cost of probation was less than one-tenth this amount.

The probationer is also able to provide for his family from his earnings. The family of a prisoner must fend for itself or become a recipient of public assistance. The probationer contributes to the economy of the community through his employment and purchases in the community. The prisoner is a drain upon the economy of the community since both he and his family must depend upon the community for support during the period of his incarceration.

Antolina stressed the importance of selectivity in determining who should go to prison or reformatory and who should not. It is a matter of "separating the sheep from the goats." Many persons are criminal in nature and must go to prison, he said, but many go who could be rehabilitated and become useful citizens.

HE EXPLAINED that the probation department, properly staffed, could screen cases coming into court so that domestic relations cases and cases involving minor charges against children could be treated without the formality of a court hearing if it is in the best interests of society and the individual to do so.

Through investigation, probation presents data to be used by the court to determine which individuals may prove amenable to supervision in the community and which individuals should be committed to a prison or a reformative institution.

Through supervision, the probation officer tries to induce a positive change in the habits, attitude, values and social relationships of the probationer by guiding him and assisting him to draw upon his own resources and those of the community to achieve these ends.

He called attention to the following definition of probation:

"PROBATION is a modern approach to the prevention and treatment of crime. It aims at the control of criminal activity through treatment of the individual. It is predicated upon the principle that human conduct is conditioned by past experience and can be changed through skilled guidance and reeducation. It proposes to give to the individual who has broken the law a chance to prove to himself and the community that he can learn to accept the responsibilities of citizenship in a free community under the guidance of a probation officer. It can operate only in a free democratic atmosphere where the citizen has an opportunity to do something about his own destiny. It is an uniquely American contribution to criminal justice. It is today's most promising weapon in the arsenal of those combatting delinquency and crime."

Adrian Kaplan, president of the local council, presided. Edward Burhans, Ulster county probation officer, introduced the speaker. Also attending was William T. Smith, probation examiner for the Hudson Valley area.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Heavy demand for railroads today sent the stock market boiling ahead in the early afternoon.

Prices were strong with gains going to around 2 points. At the same time there were many losses, some of them quite heavy because of corporate developments.

Twice in the first two hours the tape was forced to lag in reporting actual floor transactions. The pace was right around the heaviest levels of the year.

The market displayed little hesitancy at the opening and marched right ahead. Immediately after the start the tape was four minutes late. Again shortly before noon the tape was late two minutes. In both cases the congestion lasted only a short time.

Goodrich, up 3¾ yesterday, dropped back today between 6 and 7 points at times after directors proposed a two-for-one split and an increase in the dividend.

Watch Removed After Blood Dry, Coroner Advises

Cleveland, Nov. 17 (AP)—The wrist watch Marilyn Sheppard wore the night she was murdered was ripped off after the blood on her wrist had dried, Coroner S. R. Gerber testified today.

The coroner, pointing to a picture of the pretty young woman's wrist for the jury trying her osteopath husband for murder, said his examination 'indicates the bracelet (of the watch) was in position when the blood stains were wet."

"IT REMAINED in position until the blood was dry," said the coroner.

Gerber's testimony was aimed at knocking down Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's contention that a prowler killed his wife and snatched the watch from her wrist, later dropping it while ransacking the house.

The blod-stained watch was was discovered on the floor near where Sheppard sat stripped to the waist the morning of the murder.

The wrist watch testimony was the second "surprise" clue hurled by the state at Chief Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan.

The first was Gerber's statement that the bloody outline of a surgical instrument was discovered on the murdered woman's pillow.

THE ORTHOPEDIC Frame Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., said today the prosecutor's office had mailed it a copy of the bloody imprint.

The comppany was asked whether the imprint matches any surgical instrument it has made and sold to the Bay View hospital where the osteopaths in the Sheppard family practice.

Block Is Burned

Baltimore, Nov. 17 (AP)—An entire square block of south Baltimore was burned out last night by an 11-alarm fire that swept through a lumber yard and spread to adjoining buildings. More than half of the city's first-line equipment—61 pieces out of 110—were rushed to the scene. In addition to the lumber yard, two trucking firms, a garage, a tool company, numerous smaller firms and apartment houses were wiped out. Many other buildings were damaged.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Foundation Award Winners Announced

Woodstock, Nov. 16—The long awaited announcement of the Woodstock Foundation award winners for this year, was made Saturday night by Jules Viglielmo, president. Each award will be in the amount of $500.

A round representation of the arts is contained in this year's panel with Helen Neville, poet, Ainslie E. Burke, painter, William Ames, composer, and Walted Plate, painter.

Helen Neville, poet, has been the recipient of three awards presented by the American Academy of Arts and Letters. Although she now makes Woodstock her permanent home, she is also a familiar figure at the MacDowell Colony at Peterborough, N. H., having been there twice this year, once last spring and later during the early part of September. She is high in her praise of the colony founded by Mrs. Edward MacDowell. "It is a wonderful colony and it has helped me so much," she said. She has also been at the Yaddo colony at Saratoga Springs.

Educated at a convent, an Episcopal boarding school and public high school, she has also taken special courses at Columbia University. Her poems have been published in The Nation, The New Republic, Poetry Magazine, Angry Penguins (an Australian magazine), Furioso and Paris Review. She has also written book reviews and short stories. Before coming to Woodstock, which she visited on and off prior to settling here, she lived in New York. During two trips to Europe she developed a special fondness for Italy.

Ainslie (Pat) Burke was also the winner of the Herminie E. Kleinert Award this year, given on the occasion of her birthday May 17. Born January 26, 1922, in Omaha, Neb., he moved to Baltimore, Md., after his father's death, and there he received his early education. His first art training was acquired in high school under the guidance of two advanced art teachers, the Misses Helen and Nora Brainard. He received scholarships under the Carnegie program for day school at the Maryland Institute of Fine Arts, and evening school at McCoy College at Johns Hopkins University, which he attended for three years until the end of 1941.

Burke enlisted in the Navy Air Corps in 1945 and later came to New York and enrolled at the Art Students League under the GI Bill, studying painting for two years.

He was married in 1947 to the daughter of well-known artist, Edward L. Chase. He also began to exhibit that year at the Associated American Artists Gallery in New York. Last October he had his first one-man show at the gallery. He spent a year in 1948 in Mexico at the Escuela de Belles Artes under the GI Bill. He returned to New York in 1949 to live. A fine carpenter as well as painter, he constructed his own home in Bearsville where he resides.

His paintings have been exhibited at the Brooklyn Museum, the Philadelphia Print Club, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts and the Toledo Museum. He won first prize in lithography in Baltimore. In 1952 the Springfield Museum of Fine Arts, Mass., purchased a large oil for the permanent collection.

The composer award winner, William Ames, who is at present in Ithaca, has been a resident of the Maverick for many years. He is a composer of songs, and according to the noted composer-conductor Henry Cowell, "Ames has music of great value." Ames is well-known in this area where he has given a number of recitals.

Walter Plate, painter, the fourth award winner, was represented in a group show at the Whitney Museum in 1953, and he had a one-man show of his paintings at the Ganso Gallery in New York, in January 1954. After World War 2, he attended three schools in France on the GI Bill of Rights among them the Beaux Arts. He came to Woodstock in 1950, and his paintings have been included in several group shows at the Woodstock Art Gallery. This is his first award.

Married to Gladys Brodsky, also an artist, they are the parents of a son Mark, aged 10 months. Before coming to Woodstock he lived in New York.

Lewis R. Wilson Heads Rotary Club

Woodstock, Nov. 16—A board of governors and officers were elected at the meeting of the newly formed Rotary Club, Monday night at Deanie's. Officers chosen from the board of governors were: Lewis R. Wilson, president; Joseph Forno, vice president; Frank Antennucci, secretary; Dr. Edward Gurland, treasurer; Wayne Underhill, sergeant-at-arms. Serving on the board of governors are: Three years — Lewis Wilson, Walter Van Wagenen and Ed Swenson; two years—Dr. Edward Gurland, John Egan and the Rev. Harvey I. Todd; one year—Joseph Foro, William Melville ad Joseph Fitzsimmons.

There are 27 charter members in the club. The club is at present in the provisional status for a period of six to eight weeks until the charter is obtained. The charter membership has now been closed and no new members may be accepted until the end of the provisional period.

Regular meetings of the club will be held every Monday at 6:30 p. m. The annual meeting will be held on the first Monday in March and new officers will take office on July 1.

Karl Harfeur, who spoke at the meeting and welcomed the members, is the district governor's representative.

The directors' meetings will be held on the Monday of each month at 8:30 p. m. A proposition may be defeated by three negative votes from the board of governors.

At the next meeting, to be held Monday, Nov. 22, the Rev. Dean Dykstra of the First Dutch Church of Kingston will speak on What Rotary Means. He is a past president of the Rotary Club.

Girl Scout News

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — Mrs. Charles Rapp, leader of Girl Scout Troop 12 announced following a meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the Woodstock Library that Miss Frances Rogers, author and illustrator, spoke to the girls about their proposed service project to help the library. The troop members will work on the library's vertical file under the supervision of Mrs. Rapp and Miss Rogers. There is a great need, Miss Rogers pointed out, for this particular kind of reference file which is available to artists in the community. At the present time the girls are at work assembling pictures of animals and famous people.

Brownie Troop 46 is engaged in making nature scrap books. The following officers were elected at their meeting last Tuesday: Dorothea Tracey, president; Marcia Underhill, vice president; Tinker Twine, secretary; Margie Moore, treasurer. Reporters for the troop are Michele Fischer and Mary E. Elwyn.

Brownie Troop 82, which meets Tuesday afternoons at the Odd Fellows Hall in Bearsville, also elected officers at their meeting last week. They are Cherul Herbert, president; Wendy Christiana, vice president; Wendy Hyatt and Anala Shultis, scribes who are serving as troop reporters.

The new Girl Scout Lodge Troop 88, which also meets Tuesdays at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, will be invested Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 4 p. m., by their leaders, Mrs. Malcolm Rose, Mrs. Edmund Gilligan, Mrs. Beldon Hyatt and Mrs. Alfred Allen. They have elected Pixie Mecklem, treasurer, and Karen Lettel, scribe. The group is at present working on outdoor cooking.

Nursery Will Hold Rummage Sale Dec. 4

Woodstock, Nov. 16—The traditional fall rummage sale, sponsored by the Tinker Street Nursery School, was planned by members at the second meeting of the year last Thursday evening. The sale will be held at the Art Gallery Saturday, December 4, proceeds to go for a badly needed swing and for general maintenance of the non-profit, nonsectarian cooperative nursery school in Woodstock.

Presiding at the meeting in Mrs. David Carlson's absence was the vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Steinlauf, who selected Mrs. Barbara Moncure and Mrs. George St. Pierre as co-chairmen. An appeal was made for rummage of dishes, usable clothing, shoes, yard goods, canned goods, hand work and other items for the sale. Articles may be deposited at the Art Gallery from 9 to 12 noon, weekdays or may be collected by calling the co-chairmen at Woodstock 6843 or 2854.

Mrs. Miriam Mizne, visitor to Woodstock and to America for the first time from the Mazubah development in Israel, with her sister Mrs. Hans Cohn of this village, came to the meeting, answered numerous questions from the audience in regard to children's care and child-parent

One of the summary conclusions felt by the parents of the school was that children the world around need some time provided to share exclusively with their parents (as is done so well in Mrs. Mizne's group); that children the world around do have the same problems at times—in eating, in crying for mother and in establishing healthy relations between themselves and their parents who work.

Mrs. Ruth Coon, director of four-year olds at New Paltz State Teacher's College, who was to be the speaker for the meeting, postponed the engagement owing to the sudden death of her father. A further date is being planned for her to speak at a future meeting, at which time she will show her colored slides on four year old children at work with art materials.

The school is in session at the Art Gallery from 9 a. m. to 12 noon daily and an invitation is extended to interested persons to come and observe the program and the equipment.

Square Club to Meet

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — There will be a meeting of the Woodstock Square Club Thursday at 8 p. m., at the fire hall. Members are being urged to attend this important meeting since a report of the nominating committee will be heard, and also the important matter of the Community Christmas Eve Celebration on the village green will be discussed. Following the meeting, movies will be shown after which there will be an hour of fellowship and refreshments.

Girl Scout News

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — Mrs. Charles Rapp, leader of Girl Scout Troop 12 announced following a meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the Woodstock Library that Miss Frances Rogers, author and illustrator, spoke to the girls about their proposed service project to help the library. The troop members will work on the library's vertical file under the supervision of Mrs. Rapp and Miss Rogers. There is a great need, Miss Rogers pointed out, for this particular kind of reference file which is available to artists in the community. At the present time the girls are at work assembling pictures of animals and famous people.

Brownie Troop 46 is engaged in making nature scrap books. The following officers were elected at their meeting last Tuesday: Dorothea Tracey, president; Marcia Underhill, vice president; Tinker Twine, secretary; Margie Moore, treasurer. Reporters for the troop are Michele Fischer and Mary E. Elwyn.

Brownie Troop 82, which meets Tuesday afternoons at the Odd Fellows Hall in Bearsville, also elected officers at their meeting last week. They are Cherul Herbert, president; Wendy Christiana, vice president; Wendy Hyatt and Anaia Shultis, scribes who are serving as troop reporters.

The new Girl Scout Lodge Troop 88, which also meets Tuesdays at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, will be invested Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 4 p. m., by their leaders, Mrs. Malcolm Rose, Mrs. Edmund Gilligan, Mrs. Beldon Hyatt and Mrs. Alfred Allen. They have elected Pixie Mecklem, treasurer, and Karen Lettel, scribe. The group is at present working on outdoor cooking.

Nursery Will Hold Rummage Sale Dec. 4

Woodstock, Nov. 16—The traditional fall rummage sale, sponsored by the Tinker Street Nursery School, was planned by members at the second meeting of the year last Thursday evening. The sale will be held at the Art Gallery Saturday, December 4, proceeds to go for a badly needed swing and for general maintenance of the non-profit, nonsectarian cooperative nursery school in Woodstock.

Presiding at the meeting in Mrs. David Carlson's absence was the vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Steinlauf, who selected Mrs. Barbara Moncure and Mrs. George St. Pierre as co-chairmen. An appeal was made for rummage of dishes, usable clothing, shoes, yard goods, canned goods, hand work and other items for the sale. Articles may be deposited at the Art Gallery from 9 to 12 noon, weekdays or may be collected by calling the co-chairmen at Woodstock 6843 or 2854.

Mrs. Miriam Mizne, visitor to Woodstock and to America for the first time from the Mazubah development in Israel, with her sister Mrs. Hans Cohn of this village, came to the meeting, answered numerous questions from the audience in regard to children's care and child-parent

One of the summary conclusions felt by the parents of the school was that children the world around need some time provided to share exclusively with their parents (as is done so well in Mrs. Mizne's group); that children the world around do have the same problems at times—in eating, in crying for mother and in establishing healthy relations between themselves and their parents who work.

Mrs. Ruth Coon, director of four-year olds at New Paltz State Teacher's College, who was to be the speaker for the meeting, postponed the engagement owing to the sudden death of her father. A further date is being planned for her to speak at a future meeting, at which time she will show her colored slides on four year old children at work with art materials.

The school is in session at the Art Gallery from 9 a. m. to 12 noon daily and an invitation is extended to interested persons to come and observe the program and the equipment.

Square Club to Meet

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — There will be a meeting of the Woodstock Square Club Thursday at 8 p. m., at the fire hall. Members are being urged to attend this important meeting since a report of the nominating committee will be heard, and also the important matter of the Community Christmas Eve Celebration on the village green will be discussed. Following the meeting, movies will be shown after which there will be an hour of fellowship and refreshments.

Family Movement Needed to Restore Old-Fashioned Life

The Rev. James Cassidy, of St. Barnabas' Church in the Bronx, was the main speaker at the annual banquet of the Christian Family Movement held Sunday evening at Leherb's Restaurant. Father Cassidy represented the Rev. Robert Ford, family life director of the Archdiocese of New York.

The speaker outlined the purpose of CFM in promoting happier family life both at home and in society, and told how this group can help knit more closely the ties that bind husband and wife, parents and children.

FATHER CASSIDY stated that the present day materialism, which puts too much emphasis on material things spiritual and moral, makes it necessary that an organization, such as this, should actively work to restore the old fashioned family and community social life. This can be done, he pointed out, both by good example and specific actions directed toward this end.

Other speakers included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown of Yonkers and Martha Oliver of Parkchester, who told how this program was working in the metropolitan area, and the support it has received.

Among the guests were Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Kingston; Father John Simmons of St. Joseph's; and Father Paul Hirschauer of St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

Miss Emma Simpson, William Walker Wed At Methodist Church

Miss Emma Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Simpson of Pataukunk and William R. Walker, son of Mrs. Pearl Lewis of Newark Valley, were united in marriage October 29 at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in Kingston. The Rev. Clyde Snell of that church officiated.

They were attended by Miss Helen Markle of Pataukunk and Jerry Mahoney of Kripplebush.

Mrs. Walker is a 1954 graduate of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing and Mr. Walker is a student nurse at the Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie, now affiliating with the Morrisania Hospital in the Bronx.

The couple will reside in the Bronx for the present, following a short wedding trip.

Brooklyn Girl's Troth Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Head of Brooklyn and Mt. Pleasant announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to Joseph Horowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horowitz, 80 Roosevelt avenue, this city. The wedding will take place December 19.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Madison High School and New York Institute of Dietetics. She is a former member of the staff of New York Milk Market Administration.

The prospective bridegroom is associated with J and A Roofing and Siding Company, 304 Hasbrouck avenue. A graduate of New York city schools, he served three years overseas in the Navy.

Miss Esther German, Robert Schoonmaker Married in Durham

Miss Esther Louise German, of Durham, was united in marriage to Robert Melvin Schoonmaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker of Saugerties, in a double ring ceremony held Saturday, Nov. 13, at Durham Methodist Church. The Rev. Lavern Proctor officiated.

Miss Ruth Case was soloist in the selections, I Love You Truly, O Promise Me, and The Lord's Prayer. She was accompanied on the organ by Marilyn Vannatta. Baskets of fall leaves and corn stalks, and bittersweet were floral decorations in the church.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Clarence German, the bride wore a gown of lace and net over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice high neck, and bouffant skirt with long train. A crown of pearls secured her fingertip veil. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Miss Veronica Caldwell of East Durham was maid of honor. She wore a salmon pink gown of net and satin with full skirt. She carried a bouquet of white pompons with pink streamers.

The attendants were Miss Frances German of Gilboa, sister of the bride; Miss Mary Schoonmaker, sister of the bridegroom, of Saugerties; Miss Charlotte Filkins, cousin of the bride, of Homer; and Miss Phyllis Batholts of Rensselaerville. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant, two in blue and two in Nile green. They carried pink pompon bouquets.

Miss Alice Chappelle, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink gown and carried a basket of pastel flowers.

Merwin Hommell of Saugerties, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were Gordon German of Preston Hollow, brother of the bride, Chester Caldwell of East Durham; Harry Hill of this city; and Harold Short of High Woods, cousin of the bridegroom. Robert Chappelle of Acra was ringbearer.

A reception was held at Durham Hall for 80 guests.

For the wedding trip to Connecticut, the bride chose a green dress with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker will live in High Woods.

The bride, a graduate of Greenville Central School, class of 1953, is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence German of Durham. The bridegroom served more than four years in the army, with the 58th MP's in Korea, and with the Fourth Infantry Division, 22nd Regiment, in Germany, as well as in this country.

A SENSITIVE GUEST

A reader would like my opinion on the following matter: "My husband and I were invited to spend a week with very old friends who recently moved to another city. My husband and I occupied the spare room. Much to my amazement several of the dresser drawers were locked. This hurt my feelings very much and rather spoiled my visit as I felt that we were not trusted. My husband thinks I am too sensitive for my own good, but wouldn't you feel this way too, Mrs. Post, if you encountered this same treatment? I wouldn't dream of doing such a thing in my own house."

I can't even imagine why you feel as you do. The drawers being full of her things would certainly be useless for you, and it was entirely proper for her to do just as she did.

A Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper thing to say to an anniversary couple when going down the receiving line at a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary celebration? Are congratulations in order? I know one is not supposed to say congratulations to the bride on her wedding day, but does the same thing apply at a wedding anniversary?

Answer: There is nothing wrong in saying congratulations which are for their having lived happily together for twenty-five years. Or, if you like it better, you might say, "All best wishes for your continued happiness."

A Friend of His

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know what is the proper name to use when referring to a woman with whom I have been going for the past six months. She is a woman in her forties and it doesn't sound right to refer to her as my "girl friend," and as we are not engaged I cannot call her my fiancee. Would it be proper to say "lady friend?"

Answer: Please don't say "lady friend." Simply say "a woman friend of mine" when speaking about her to others.

Installers Agree On Heater Code

Regulations covering installations of automatic heating equipment in the city were agreed upon by a group at a recent meeting in central fire station, S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, local superintendent of buildings, said today.

A group of persons interested in the business had named a committee to consider a code governing all such installations, and the committee's report was accepted at the subsequent session. Lester Cole, local plumber, headed the committee.

It was unanimously agreed also that permits must be obtained on all work covered by permits and these must be taken out in the name of the property owner from the building department before an installation can be started.

FBI Checks Albany Area On Vote Buying, Frauds

Albany, Nov. 17 (AP) — FBI agents today pressed an investigation here and in Albany county of charges of vote buying and other alleged balloting frauds in the Nov. 2 general election.

The FBI's entrance into the probe launched two weeks ago by Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein was revealed in Washington yesterday by William P. Rogers, acting U. S. attorney general.

Rogers acknowledged receipt of a letter to Atty. Gen. Brownell, now in South America, in which Goldstein asserted that a preliminary investigation in the Albany area indicated wholesale purchase of votes, stealing of absentee ballots, forging of ballots, a pattern of illegal registrations and other frauds.

Goldstein had said at a news conference in New York city yesterday that the Albany county Democratic committee obtained $80,000 in $5 bills from an Albany bank before the Nov. 2 state election and that this indicated "vote buying on a huge scale."

Daniel P. O'Connell, Democratic county chairman, could not be reached for comment.

Rogers said that "because the general election included the election of candidates to federal office, the laws of the United States may be applicable."

He said the U. S. criminal code provided penalties of up to $10,000 fine or two years imprisonment, or both, for persons offering or accepting funds to affect an individual vote.

Edward A. Soucy, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Albany, yesterday confirmed that the federal inquiry was underway. He said the probe was designed to "determine whether there exists any violation of federal statutes."

Man to Return

them he came here recently from St. Louis. Detectives said his hometown was Meridian, Miss., but last night a police source said Call may have come from Glenview, Ill.

Muller and Blaisdell flew here following a tip from a Reno newspaperman that a newspaper clipping about the Lake Placid manhunt had been found in Call's possession and after local authorities had sent to New York photographs and fingerprints of the suspect.

CALL'S FINGERPRINTS, according to New York state police, match some found in the cottage where the shootings occurred.

"There's no doubt that Call is the killer," Muller said yesterday. "We've got plenty of evidence . . . his fingerprints at the scene and eyewitnesses to the shooting."

Sgt. Dominick Valenze and Patrolman J. Bernard Fell of the Lake Placid village police force have said they are certain they can identify the man who shot them and Pelkey.

Muller asserted that he was certain that Call had been hiding out in the Adirondacks before the shootings.

"I'll find out why if it's the last thing I do," he declared. "It was something big he was hiding from."

HE DECLINED to speculate what it might have been.

In response to a query, Muller said he planned to question Call about a $100,000 jewel robbery at Lake Placid three days before the shooting.

Reno officers, who said they found many identification cards and wallets in Call's room at Plush Hotel, theorized that he had been on a nationwide burglary spree.

Muller said Call had committed "numerous burglaries . . . I wouldn't even try to estimate how many."

"Sure he was surprised when we told him he was wanted for the Lake Placid shooting," Muller said. "It's been in the back of his mind but he figured he'd get off here on a burglary charge."

Saratoga in 1954 was 8 per cent plus 50 per cent of the breakage.

Betting tax rates last year were 8 per cent and 7 per cent respectively. Next year they will be 10 per cent and 9 per cent respectively.

Localities took 2 per cent of the total 1954 handle at flat tracks. The Saratoga track operators received 5 per cent and operators at New York city area tracks 4 per cent.

Under a 1953 law the three localities will lose their rights to tax flat track betting by 1956. The levy, originally 5 per cent, has been reduced one per cent each year.

Meanwhile the state, by 1956, will have increased its "bite" from 6 to 11 per cent.

At harness tracks, the rate is 5 per cent on the first $175,000 wagered, 7 per cent on the next $125,000, 8 per cent of the next $100,000, 9 per cent on the next $100,000, 10 per cent on the next $100,000 and 11 per cent on all over $600,000, plus 50 per cent of the breakage.

The tax rate last year was 5 per cent on the first $200,000, 6 per cent on the next $350,000, and 7 per cent on all over $550,000.

The Mature Parent

How T'll Do It for You' Skids Child Into Misbehavior

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mark started going into his skid of misbehavior as soon as he got home from school.

Told that his father was bringing a guest home for dinner, he protested doing an errand until his mother had to turn her pie into a pudding.

Then, learning that the guest's presence would make it impossible for him to watch his favorite TV adventure, he gave vent to a defiant, "Dammit!" And rebuked, he kept insisting that his forbidden word was justified.

Next asked to wash, he dried himself with a guest towel that had to be replaced. Finally, when she found him sprawled in a litter of magazines spilled from her carefully arranged rack, his mother lost her temper.

She said, 'Get up from that sofa—and get out to the yard! Goodness, what's got into you this afternoon? If ever a boy had a talent for housewrecking, it's you! Hurry up! Get out of this room so I can get it back into one piece again . . . . "

As she spoke, she gave him a little push. Stumbling, he toppled over the end table beside him—and with it, its china container of after-dinner mints. And suddenly, as he looked from the rolling candies back to his mother in dismay she knew what was wrong with Mark.

Irritation went out of her like a fever dropping. She said, "All right, darling. Pick them up. Put them back. Then pick up the magazines and arrange them the way you found them.

And the skid was over.

It was over because Mark had found the traction he needed to regain his self-respect. Finally, after an afternoon of mistakes corrected for him, he had been given his chance to put one right himself.

Every parents experiences these "skids" occasionally. For every parent gets preoccupied occasionally. And in this tate, they start children off on their "skids" by resentfully correcting some mistake they have made for them.

They begin as they began with Mark.

Under the momentum of his rapidly draining self-respect, he's sped helplessly from one bad performance to another until it looks as though the very demon of contrariness has taken him over.

The real Demon's name was "I'll do it for you." The instant Mark's mother realized this, she could brake his "skid" by arranging for him to correct his last mistake himself.

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Frederic C. Dumaine Jr., former president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, said last night he sold 50,000 shares of the railroad's preferred stock after the close of the market yesterday. The stock, with voting rights, closed at $61 per share on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday. Dumaine said the sale did not indicate any change in his attitude toward the management of the New Haven's new president, Patrick B. McGinnis. Dumaine lost control to McGinnis at a stockholders' election last April.

Installers Agree On Heater Code

Regulations covering installations of automatic heating equipment in the city were agreed upon by a group at a recent meeting in central fire station, S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, local superintendent of buildings, said today.

A group of persons interested in the business had named a committee to consider a code governing all such installations, and the committee's report was accepted at the subsequent session. Lester Cole, local plumber, headed the committee.

It was unanimously agreed also that permits must be obtained on all work covered by permits and these must be taken out in the name of the property owner from the building department before an installation can be started.

FBI Checks Albany Area On Vote Buying, Frauds

Albany, Nov. 17 (AP) — FBI agents today pressed an investigation here and in Albany county of charges of vote buying and other alleged balloting frauds in the Nov. 2 general election.

The FBI's entrance into the probe launched two weeks ago by Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein was revealed in Washington yesterday by William P. Rogers, acting U. S. attorney general.

Rogers acknowledged receipt of a letter to Atty. Gen. Brownell, now in South America, in which Goldstein asserted that a preliminary investigation in the Albany area indicated wholesale purchase of votes, stealing of absentee ballots, forging of ballots, a pattern of illegal registrations and other frauds.

Goldstein had said at a news conference in New York city yesterday that the Albany county Democratic committee obtained $80,000 in $5 bills from an Albany bank before the Nov. 2 state election and that this indicated "vote buying on a huge scale."

Daniel P. O'Connell, Democratic county chairman, could not be reached for comment.

Rogers said that "because the general election included the election of candidates to federal office, the laws of the United States may be applicable."

He said the U. S. criminal code provided penalties of up to $10,000 fine or two years imprisonment, or both, for persons offering or accepting funds to affect an individual vote.

Edward A. Soucy, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Albany, yesterday confirmed that the federal inquiry was underway. He said the probe was designed to "determine whether there exists any violation of federal statutes."

Man to Return

them he came here recently from St. Louis. Detectives said his hometown was Meridian, Miss., but last night a police source said Call may have come from Glenview, Ill.

Muller and Blaisdell flew here following a tip from a Reno newspaperman that a newspaper clipping about the Lake Placid manhunt had been found in Call's possession and after local authorities had sent to New York photographs and fingerprints of the suspect.

CALL'S FINGERPRINTS, according to New York state police, match some found in the cottage where the shootings occurred.

"There's no doubt that Call is the killer," Muller said yesterday. "We've got plenty of evidence . . . his fingerprints at the scene and eyewitnesses to the shooting."

Sgt. Dominick Valenze and Patrolman J. Bernard Fell of the Lake Placid village police force have said they are certain they can identify the man who shot them and Pelkey.

Muller asserted that he was certain that Call had been hiding out in the Adirondacks before the shootings.

"I'll find out why if it's the last thing I do," he declared. "It was something big he was hiding from."

HE DECLINED to speculate what it might have been.

In response to a query, Muller said he planned to question Call about a $100,000 jewel robbery at Lake Placid three days before the shooting.

Reno officers, who said they found many identification cards and wallets in Call's room at Plush Hotel, theorized that he had been on a nationwide burglary spree.

Muller said Call had committed "numerous burglaries . . . I wouldn't even try to estimate how many."

"Sure he was surprised when we told him he was wanted for the Lake Placid shooting," Muller said. "It's been in the back of his mind but he figured he'd get off here on a burglary charge."

Group May Pay First Dividend, Interest to Drop

With farm loans reaching a new peak of $1,455,000 during 1954 in the four-county area, the Farmer's Production Credit Association will probably pay its first dividend to stockholders at the close of the year, Zar Benedict, secretary-treasurer of Middletown, has reported.

Benedict made the announcement Tuesday night during the combined annual meetig and banquet of the FPCA and the Ulster National Farm Loan Association at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. More than 220 farmers, members and guests were in attendance.

At the same time, Benedict pointed out that the interest rate on farm loans is scheduled to drop from six to five and one-half per cent after Jan. 1, 1955.

In noting the good financial structure of his FPCA group, Benedict also said that the total amount of money loaned during the year would probably reach two and a half million dollars.

Meanwhile, FPCA elected Frank Garrison of Middletown as director to succeed himself and Lawrence Battingkoff of Ferndale, who is replacing Melford Hurd of Clintondale, who is retiring after 12 years of service with the board. Hurd was presented with a weather barometer by the Production Credit Association as a token of his faithful service.

A STRONG FINANCIAL picture also was noted for the Ulster National Farm Loan Association by C. Kenneth Taber, secretary-treasurer, who reported $56,585 worth of stock owned by Ulster county members. He said this stock is protected by $31,000 worth of reserves and surplus.

According to Taber, the Association, as of June 30, 1954, had 264 Federal Land Bank Loans in Ulster county with an outstanding balance of $752,475. During the fiscal year, two five per cent dividends were declared to stockholders totaling $5,812.

Directors elected were Fred H. DuBois, Jr., of New Paltz and Benjamin Van Wagenen, RD 3, Kingston, both succeeding themselves.

Among the various speakers heard at the combined meeting was C. Chester DuMond, Jr., association president, who is a member on the national committee of Farm Loan Associations and who represents the First Farm Credit District consisting of New York, New England and New Jersey. DuMond told of some of the Farm Credit activities at the national level.

Also speaking were Fred H. DuBois, Jr., Michael Moriello, New Paltz; Jansen Dederick, Saugerties; and John L. Schoonmaker, president of the FPCA.

11 Are Inducted From Local Area

Group May Pay First Dividend, Interest to Drop

With farm loans reaching a new peak of $1,455,000 during 1954 in the four-county area, the Farmer's Production Credit Association will probably pay its first dividend to stockholders at the close of the year, Zar Benedict, secretary-treasurer of Middletown, has reported.

Benedict made the announcement Tuesday night during the combined annual meetig and banquet of the FPCA and the Ulster National Farm Loan Association at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. More than 220 farmers, members and guests were in attendance.

At the same time, Benedict pointed out that the interest rate on farm loans is scheduled to drop from six to five and one-half per cent after Jan. 1, 1955.

In noting the good financial structure of his FPCA group, Benedict also said that the total amount of money loaned during the year would probably reach two and a half million dollars.

Meanwhile, FPCA elected Frank Garrison of Middletown as director to succeed himself and Lawrence Battingkoff of Ferndale, who is replacing Melford Hurd of Clintondale, who is retiring after 12 years of service with the board. Hurd was presented with a weather barometer by the Production Credit Association as a token of his faithful service.

A STRONG FINANCIAL picture also was noted for the Ulster National Farm Loan Association by C. Kenneth Taber, secretary-treasurer, who reported $56,585 worth of stock owned by Ulster county members. He said this stock is protected by $31,000 worth of reserves and surplus.

According to Taber, the Association, as of June 30, 1954, had 264 Federal Land Bank Loans in Ulster county with an outstanding balance of $752,475. During the fiscal year, two five per cent dividends were declared to stockholders totaling $5,812.

Directors elected were Fred H. DuBois, Jr., of New Paltz and Benjamin Van Wagenen, RD 3, Kingston, both succeeding themselves.

Among the various speakers heard at the combined meeting was C. Chester DuMond, Jr., association president, who is a member on the national committee of Farm Loan Associations and who represents the First Farm Credit District consisting of New York, New England and New Jersey. DuMond told of some of the Farm Credit activities at the national level.

Also speaking were Fred H. DuBois, Jr., Michael Moriello, New Paltz; Jansen Dederick, Saugerties; and John L. Schoonmaker, president of the FPCA.

Woodstock

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

House attended by members and their guests.

Although there were no formal speeches following the dinner a committee headed by Mordy Berkowitz submitted a report on the latest activity of the association, the plan to build an information center. It was explained that the association deemed it wise to have its own building, rather than a rented store in the village. Consequently, the erection of a building is contemplated in a few weeks which will be approximately 12 by 24 feet, with a porch of about the same area. It will house the association's official information center with a paid attendant to give information to any one inquiring.

The attendant will also send out the association's brochure, Invitation To Woodstock, of which nearly 20,000 copies have already been printed and are being distributed in answer to inquiries concerning Woodstock.

Members will be afforded an opportunity to display their wares or otherwise advertise their services in display windows on the rear wall.

Two locations were considered. Jack Citroen offered land rent-free until otherwise needed on the grounds in front of the old Candelier building. Another offer for rent-free land came from A. L. Sainer at the corner of the Woodstock Playhouse property where it adjoins the Town House property directly opposite the entrance to the town from Route 375. The latter was chosen and work will progress almost immediately.

An offer from Rudy Baumgarten was also accepted to use his Atlantic Gas station on Route 28 at the Zena Road as an auxiliary information center, and already a large sign is hanging under his sign, reading Woodstock Information, and can be seen approaching from either direction on Route 28 as well as from the Zena road.

The members will hold a meeting on Monday evening, Nov. 22, at a place to be announced, to receive estimates for the costs of erecting the building, approving plans and other details.

It was stated that the association has many more plans under consideration which will be announced as the plans approach a concluding point.

Following the report movies were shown. One was from National Homes, the company which prefabricated the 36 homes erected in Woodstock meadows by Hendrik Wolter. It showed in detail how the homes are built in their prefabricated state, and then how they are loaded on and off the special trailers and erected in a matter of hours.

Due to the withdrawal of other films arranged, Ed Bauman brought with him a film from WKNY/TV from one of the station's weekly half-hour shows, This Is The Life. It showed life in a small community which could have been Woodstock or other similar community.

Dancing followed the showing of the films with George Berk and Ed. Bauman officiating at the piano while Floyd Simmons fiddled and called the square dances.

Many members reported that they had such a god time that "they ought to have these parties more often." An unofficial canvass of the directors present indicated that there would be another similar dinner early in January.

It will be a Christmas party and the following will serve as hostesses: Miss Helen Harrand, Miss Katherine Bertsch, Miss Margaret Schiltz and Mrs. Merele Reynolds. The glove class now has a registration of 12 members.

Mrs. Vredenburgh Speaks, Shows Film

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — Mrs. Gerald Green acted as chairman of the regular meeting of the Overlook Home Bureau held at her home last Thursday night. The feature of the evening was a lecture by Mrs. Kenneth Vredenburgh who also showed a film on safety in the home.

The group is planning a class in tray making, starting on November 30, at 8 p. m., place to be announced.

Two new members were welcomed into the group. They are Mrs. Edward Gardner of Saugerties and Mrs. Frank Gardner of Cementon. Mrs. Amy Fuller and Mrs. Robert Rifenberg were hostesses for the evening.

The December meeting in the form of a Christmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. Bud Blazy. Each member is requested to bring a 50-cent gift. The following hostesses were appointed for December: Mrs. Rita Bird, Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, Mrs. Warren Graver and Mrs. Jane Tracy.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

It's hot stuff when thieves and their pals pass a resolution that they shall remain immune from the police. And make it stick! Yes, sir, that's brainy work.

You'd scarcely expect that much brains in Washington! But it really happened. When the F.B.I. was created years ago, it was given general authority to investigate thievery in all Departments of Government! But the Treasury and Internal Revenue Bureau declared themselves above the law, and for years they made it stick.

Mr. Hutton

Well, you've read in the papers what happened. One U. S. Senator, Williams of Delaware, made himself a one-man F.B.I., and began to investigate tax scandals running into the millions of dollars. The tax collectors had collected — for themselves. Not all, of course. There are honest men in Government. But a lot of jail space is now filled by the folks who insisted on investigating themselves.

The wind-up of this sad tale is that a bill of Senator Williams to give the F.B.I. unquestioned authority to look into the Treasury and Internal Revenue Service now and then, failed to pass in Congress last adjourned. A Democratic Congressman from Brooklyn killed it.

What goes on, neighbor?

To Elect Officers.

Woodstock, Nov. 16—Election of officers for the coming year will be held at the meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Health Center. Chairmen of all committees will also present their annual reports.

Supper Scheduled

Woodstock, Nov. 16 — A spaghetti and meat ball supper will be served in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church Thursday, Nov. 18. The serving starts at 5:30 p. m. and will continue until all are served.

Memorial Show Will Be Held of McCarthy's Works

Woodstock, Nov. 17—A memorial show of oil paintings, watercolors and drawing by Clarence J. McCarthy will be held at the Woodstock Art Gallery from Dec. 23 through Jan. 1, it was announced today.

The artist, who had known Woodstock since its early days as an art colony, died Oct. 3, 1953 in his 66th year. He was a native of Rochester, where he had been a staff artist for the Rochester Herald, and had become an expert engraver before leaving for New York to study with the Art Students League.

After a career as an illustrator for such top magazines as The Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal and Red Book, he turned to fine art, living and working in Woodstock for several years prior to his death.

Woodstockers knew "Mac" as a worker for about every worthy cause. He had assisted with shows for the Woodstock Foundation, helped other organizations, and promoted shows for the Woodstock Country Club, of which he was a charter member. He was helpful also, on many occasions, to fellow artists.

The works to be shown at the memorial exhibition, include landscapes of various sizes in oils and watercolors, and several drawings. Some of the larger paintings were completed during the year prior to his death.

West Camp Pastor Addresses Convention

Saugerties, Nov. 16—The Rev. Henry M. Schumann, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp, was guest speaker on Monday at the Lutheran Brotherhood Convention of the Mohawk Valley at the First Lutheran Church of Schenectady. A banquet preceded the business of the convention. The Rev. Mr. Schumann as chairman of the New York State Lutheran Refugee Service addressed the gathering on the functions and needs of the refugee service.

Lutheran Brotherhood Plans Supper Dec. 2

Saugerties, Nov. 16 — The Brotherhood of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Atonement is sponsoring an old-time sauerkraut supper to be held Thursday, Dec. 2 in the basement of the church.

Although discontinued in recent years, the sauerkraut suppers of the church are well-known throughout the Saugerties area.

Philip Breithaupt, Sr., will be in charge of arrangements for the affair. Proceeds from the supper will be used toward the purchase of the new stove recently installed in the kitchen. Servings will be at 5, 6 and 7 p. m.

West Camp Church Installs Amplifier

Saugerties, Nov. 16—A Stromberg-Carlson high-fidelity amplifier with record player was recently installed in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp for the purpose of presenting appropriate religious music, musical vespers and other features.

This innovation, a gift of the Knaust family, was used for the first time Sunday prior to the regular 11 a. m. Worship Service.

The electronic engineer who installed the unit worked under the supervision of Hobart Mitchell, noted singer of religious music and well-known for his outstanding presentations of Sermon-in-Song.

Mitchell in conjunction with Herman Knaust of Stroomzeit have been experimenting in the recording field for the purpose of reproducing on records the finest in religious music and also the presentation of outstanding sermons and talks by noted clergymen and churchmen. According to Knaust, the greatest need for such equipment would be in the small churches where through the medium of a high-fidelity system these parishes could afford the finest in religious music and sermons.

The system is not meant to take the place of live presentation of organ, choir or sermon but would merely supplement and add body to special services and church programs.

The main function of the system would be for the presentation of musical vespers.

This Sunday as a trial, a quarter hour prelude of recorded organ music was played by E. Power Briggs. The prelude music preceded the regular organ prelude presented live by Choir Director and Organist Mrs. LeRoy Potts of Cementon.

The program by Biggs consisted of the following:

Oklahoma City (AP)—At 71, Mrs. Ida May Relf, a professional photographer of Ponca City, Okla., is learning to fly. Fay Linehan, civil aeronautics safety agent says he thinks she is the oldest woman ever to receive permission to take flying lessons, although there have been many women who have continued to fly past that age. "I plan to fly for pleasure but it will also be of great help to me if I can fly to Oklahoma City to buy supplies for my studio," she said.

House attended by members and their guests.

Although there were no formal speeches following the dinner a committee headed by Mordy Berkowitz submitted a report on the latest activity of the association, the plan to build an information center. It was explained that the association deemed it wise to have its own building, rather than a rented store in the village. Consequently, the erection of a building is contemplated in a few weeks which will be approximately 12 by 24 feet, with a porch of about the same area. It will house the association's official information center with a paid attendant to give information to any one inquiring.

The attendant will also send out the association's brochure, Invitation To Woodstock, of which nearly 20,000 copies have already been printed and are being distributed in answer to inquiries concerning Woodstock.

Members will be afforded an opportunity to display their wares or otherwise advertise their services in display windows on the rear wall.

Two locations were considered. Jack Citroen offered land rent-free until otherwise needed on the grounds in front of the old Candelier building. Another offer for rent-free land came from A. L. Sainer at the corner of the Woodstock Playhouse property where it adjoins the Town House property directly opposite the entrance to the town from Route 375. The latter was chosen and work will progress almost immediately.

An offer from Rudy Baumgarten was also accepted to use his Atlantic Gas station on Route 28 at the Zena Road as an auxiliary information center, and already a large sign is hanging under his sign, reading Woodstock Information, and can be seen approaching from either direction on Route 28 as well as from the Zena road.

The members will hold a meeting on Monday evening, Nov. 22, at a place to be announced, to receive estimates for the costs of erecting the building, approving plans and other details.

It was stated that the association has many more plans under consideration which will be announced as the plans approach a concluding point.

Following the report movies were shown. One was from National Homes, the company which prefabricated the 36 homes erected in Woodstock meadows by Hendrik Wolter. It showed in detail how the homes are built in their prefabricated state, and then how they are loaded on and off the special trailers and erected in a matter of hours.

Due to the withdrawal of other films arranged, Ed Bauman brought with him a film from WKNY/TV from one of the station's weekly half-hour shows, This Is The Life. It showed life in a small community which could have been Woodstock or other similar community.

Dancing followed the showing of the films with George Berk and Ed. Bauman officiating at the piano while Floyd Simmons fiddled and called the square dances.

Many members reported that they had such a god time that "they ought to have these parties more often." An unofficial canvass of the directors present indicated that there would be another similar dinner early in January.

It will be a Christmas party and the following will serve as hostesses: Miss Helen Harrand, Miss Katherine Bertsch, Miss Margaret Schiltz and Mrs. Merele Reynolds. Mrs. Vredenburgh Speaks, Shows Film

Two new members were welcomed into the group. They are Mrs. Edward Gardner of Saugerties and Mrs. Frank Gardner of Cementon. Mrs. Amy Fuller and Mrs. Robert Rifenberg were hostesses for the evening.

The December meeting in the form of a Christmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. Bud Blazy. Each member is requested to bring a 50-cent gift. The following hostesses were appointed for December: Mrs. Rita Bird, Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, Mrs. Warren Graver and Mrs. Jane Tracy.

Memorial Show Will Be Held of McCarthy's Works

Woodstock, Nov. 17—A memorial show of oil paintings, watercolors and drawing by Clarence J. McCarthy will be held at the Woodstock Art Gallery from Dec. 23 through Jan. 1, it was announced today.

The artist, who had known Woodstock since its early days as an art colony, died Oct. 3, 1953 in his 66th year. He was a native of Rochester, where he had been a staff artist for the Rochester Herald, and had become an expert engraver before leaving for New York to study with the Art Students League.

After a career as an illustrator for such top magazines as The Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal and Red Book, he turned to fine art, living and working in Woodstock for several years prior to his death.

Woodstockers knew "Mac" as a worker for about every worthy cause. He had assisted with shows for the Woodstock Foundation, helped other organizations, and promoted shows for the Woodstock Country Club, of which he was a charter member. He was helpful also, on many occasions, to fellow artists.

The works to be shown at the memorial exhibition, include landscapes of various sizes in oils and watercolors, and several drawings. Some of the larger paintings were completed during the year prior to his death.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

It's hot stuff when thieves and their pals pass a resolution that they shall remain immune from the police. And make it stick! Yes, sir, that's brainy work.

Mr. Hutton

You'd scarcely expect that much brains in Washington! But it really happened. When the F.B.I. was created years ago, it was given general authority to investigate thievery in all Departments of Government! But the Treasury and Internal Revenue Bureau declared themselves above the law, and for years they made it stick.

Well, you've read in the papers what happened. One U. S. Senator, Williams of Delaware, made himself a one-man F.B.I., and began to investigate tax scandals running into the millions of dollars. The tax collectors had collected — for themselves. Not all, of course. There are honest men in Government. But a lot of jail space is now filled by the folks who insisted on investigating themselves.

The wind-up of this sad tale is that a bill of Senator Williams to give the F.B.I. unquestioned authority to look into the Treasury and Internal Revenue Service now and then, failed to pass in Congress last adjourned. A Democratic Congressman from Brooklyn killed it.

What goes on, neighbor?

West Camp Pastor Addresses Convention

Saugerties, Nov. 16—The Rev. Henry M. Schumann, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp, was guest speaker on Monday at the Lutheran Brotherhood Convention of the Mohawk Valley at the First Lutheran Church of Schenectady. A banquet preceded the business of the convention. The Rev. Mr. Schumann as chairman of the New York State Lutheran Refugee Service addressed the gathering on the functions and needs of the refugee service.

Lutheran Brotherhood Plans Supper Dec. 2

Saugerties, Nov. 16 — The Brotherhood of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Atonement is sponsoring an old-time sauerkraut supper to be held Thursday, Dec. 2 in the basement of the church.

Although discontinued in recent years, the sauerkraut suppers of the church are well-known throughout the Saugerties area.

Philip Breithaupt, Sr., will be in charge of arrangements for the affair. Proceeds from the supper will be used toward the purchase of the new stove recently installed in the kitchen. Servings will be at 5, 6 and 7 p. m.

West Camp Church Installs Amplifier

Saugerties, Nov. 16—A Stromberg-Carlson high-fidelity amplifier with record player was recently installed in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp for the purpose of presenting appropriate religious music, musical vespers and other features.

This innovation, a gift of the Knaust family, was used for the first time Sunday prior to the regular 11 a. m. Worship Service.

The electronic engineer who installed the unit worked under the supervision of Hobart Mitchell, noted singer of religious music and well-known for his outstanding presentations of Sermon-in-Song.

Mitchell in conjunction with Herman Knaust of Stroomzeit have been experimenting in the recording field for the purpose of reproducing on records the finest in religious music and also the presentation of outstanding sermons and talks by noted clergymen and churchmen. According to Knaust, the greatest need for such equipment would be in the small churches where through the medium of a high-fidelity system these parishes could afford the finest in religious music and sermons.

The system is not meant to take the place of live presentation of organ, choir or sermon but would merely supplement and add body to special services and church programs.

The main function of the system would be for the presentation of musical vespers.

This Sunday as a trial, a quarter hour prelude of recorded organ music was played by E. Power Briggs. The prelude music preceded the regular organ prelude presented live by Choir Director and Organist Mrs. LeRoy Potts of Cementon.

The program by Biggs consisted of the following:

Learns to Fly at 71

Oklahoma City (AP)—At 71, Mrs. Ida May Relf, a professional photographer of Ponca City, Okla., is learning to fly. Fay Linehan, civil aeronautics safety agent says he thinks she is the oldest woman ever to receive permission to take flying lessons, although there have been many women who have continued to fly past that age. "I plan to fly for pleasure but it will also be of great help to me if I can fly to Oklahoma City to buy supplies for my studio," she said.

For the Squirrels

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—One of Arline Gillam's earrings dropped off as she ran for a bus. A squirrel in Capitol Park grabbed the earring, ran up a tree and paid no attention when Mrs. Gillam pleaded for him to drop it.

Bowles Predicts All Schools Will Close

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—Bryant W. Bowles last night claimed victory in his fight against integration of the races in Milford, Del., schools and predicted if further attempts are made for Negroes to attend Delaware schools "every school in the state will close down that day."

Bowles, who heads the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, spoke at a meeting of the Jacksonville chapter of the NAAWP nearly 200 attended the meeting.

Delaware people, like Floridians, didn't believe integration could happen there, Bowles said. But, he said, it has happened in Florida.

He said Sheriff Willis V. McCall of Lake county "last week had to take three Negroes out of school, but I didn't see it in the papers." The school board at Apopka, Fla., also "had to get three out," Bowles said.

Florida will be the testing ground for integration efforts in the south, he predicted, and said "left wing elements" will try twice as hard to bring about integration in Florida because they believe "enough people have migrated here to put Negroes in the schools."

Bowles also said he will address a group of Negroes at Peekskill, N. Y., Sunday.

About 85 per cent of the people of Southeast Asia live in rural areas.

Modern Education

Harrisonburg, Va. (AP)—R. C. Haddon, field director for teacher graduates at Madison College, visited an isolated mountain school to check things. No teacher, no pupils. He went to the home of the teacher after learning the class was supposedly on a "field trip." The class had a full attendance, and was grouped with teacher before a television set watching a widely-heralded sports contest. Haddon joined 'em.

Two Are Indicted In Garbage Deal

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 17 (AP) —A holdover Hudson County Grand Jury yesterday indicted two men for false swearing in connection with a disputed city garbage contract.

Named in the indictments handed up to Superior Court Judge Haydn Proctor were Louis Capone, Union City, and Abraham Klein, of 157-30 90th street, Jamaica, N. Y.

Klein and Capone were partners in the Hudson City Contracting Co., awarded an emergency garbage removal contract in 1952 by Jersey City authorities and the City Incinerator Co.

In January last year, both gave depositions to Ashley B. Carrick, Superior Court examiner, in connection with a suit against the contract by the regular garbage collectors, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Scaturchio.

The indictments allege that Capone lied when he said he knew Klein before they became partners, and that Klein lied when he said he knew Capone 20 years or more before they engaged in business.

Capone appeared last July before the Larner Court-ordered probe of Jersey City finances, at which time it is alleged he admitted he did not know Klein before they joined in the business venture.

Well Preserved Brew

Jerseyville, Ill. (AP) — Ralph Johnson, a farmer of near Jerseyville, didn't realize how long his well had gone without cleaning until he started the project this fall. In the mud and debris which he pulled out were seven quart bottles of home brew made during prohibition.

When you eat sugar, the amount of sugar in your blood changes in from one to four minutes.

Man Posed as Woman; It Was Easier That Way

New York, Nov. 17 (AP) — A 220-pound man told police today he had posed as a woman for the past year because it was easier to make a living.

Joseph Caul, 22, of Albany, said he had worked as a maid, as an attendant in a sanitarium and as a bar maid.

Police took him into custody in an 8th avenue tavern last night as he celebrated his 22nd birthday.

He said he first donned woman's clothes on his 21st birthday.

The not-too-shapely prisoner, who was charged with impersonating a female, wore a powder blue dress, a fur stole, high-heel, open-toe shoes and costume jewelry.

Caul, who is 5 feet 10 inches tall, said he has been known as "Lorraine Rule" for the past year and that he has been living at the Cort Hotel.

He was arrested after a man pointed him out and told police "Lorraine" was being sought on a Mamaroneck warrant.

Minutes after he was taken to a station house, Caul admitted he is a man.

Police said nothing about a Mamaroneck warrant, not even confirming whether one exists. Two detectives from that city questioned Caul at length, however.

Caul refused to give his address in Albany.

Carlson Gives Warning

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University of the State of New York, warns against turning research men into "mere technicians." He suggests that this could result from financial grants for applied research with emphasis on practicality. "We must resist the urging to do too much applied research and, in effect, become research branches of industry," heads.

Man Posed as Woman; It Was Easier That Way

New York, Nov. 17 (AP) — A 220-pound man told police today he had posed as a woman for the past year because it was easier to make a living.

Joseph Caul, 22, of Albany, said he had worked as a maid, as an attendant in a sanitarium and as a bar maid.

Police took him into custody in an 8th avenue tavern last night as he celebrated his 22nd birthday.

He said he first donned woman's clothes on his 21st birthday.

The not-too-shapely prisoner, who was charged with impersonating a female, wore a powder blue dress, a fur stole, high-heel, open-toe shoes and costume jewelry.

Caul, who is 5 feet 10 inches tall, said he has been known as "Lorraine Rule" for the past year and that he has been living at the Cort Hotel.

He was arrested after a man pointed him out and told police "Lorraine" was being sought on a Mamaroneck warrant.

Minutes after he was taken to a station house, Caul admitted he is a man.

Police said nothing about a Mamaroneck warrant, not even confirming whether one exists. Two detectives from that city questioned Caul at length, however.

Caul refused to give his address in Albany.

Carlson Gives Warning

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University of the State of New York, warns against turning research men into "mere technicians." He suggests that this could result from financial grants for applied research with emphasis on practicality. "We must resist the urging to do too much applied research and, in effect, become research branches of industry," heads.

Gloede Bids for Two Lehigh Mark

Easton, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Lehigh plays Lafayette for the 90th time Saturday and Lehigh quarterback Tom Gloede can set two Engineer varsity football records in the contest.

Gloede needs just 55 yards to equal the one-season forward passing record set by Joe Scannella in 1949. And he is only 50 yards shy of the total season offense record of 1[illegible] yards set by Dick Doyne during the 1950 season.

In addition to the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., quarterback, 17 other players from both schools will end their college football careers Saturday.

48-Hour Deadline For Baltimore

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets today were given 48 hours to raise money or the franchise would be dissolved by the National Basketball Association.

NBA President Maurice Podoloff met with co-owner John Knox of the Bullets until the early hours of the morning, and although neither issued a statement, a source close to the situation said the Bullets have only until Friday to raise the necessary cash to stay in the league.

Al Barthelme, who has been coaching the Bullets in the absence of Clair Bee, was optimistic over the club's chances of staying in Baltimore.

"I BELIEVE we'll stay in Baltimore," he said. "Enough people are interested in the team and we can build up more interest. It would be terrible if they sent out an ultimatum."

The Bullets won their second game in 10 attempts last night, upsetting the New York Knickerbockers 110-107. Their total set a Madison Square Garden record.

In the other half of the doubleheader, the Syracuse Nationals defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 86-85.

The Boston Celtics beat the Rochester Royals 99-98.

Hoad's Slump Worries Aussies

Sydney, Nov. 17 (AP)—Australia's Davis Cup selectors, deeply worried by the defeat of Lewis Hoad, their young cup ace, plan to give immediate control of the Aussie squad to the shrewd nonplaying captain, Harry Hopman.

Three of the four selectors were among the spectators yesterday as old-timer John Bromwich gave Hoad a 6-4, 6-3, 7-6 tennis lesson in the quarterfinals of the New South Wales tournament. Ali three agreed afterward that the only thing to do was to put the entire squad under the iron hand of Hopman.

The rest of the Australian Davis Cup team, which will defend the trophy against either the United States or Sweden here Dec. 26-28, is comprised of Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig.

Barney Spinella of Brooklyn held a 192 grand average in the American Bowling Congress from 1919 to 1941.

Holyoke, Mass.—Bobby Courchesne, 129, Holyoke, stopped Bobby Weaver, 130, Hartford, 5.

BLACK BEAUTY OF A BEAR—Egbert Schultz, one-time well known bowler, bagged this impressive looking 350-pound black bear in the hills near Mt. Tobias. Schultz brought the beast down with one perfect shot. His brother, Schuyler, helped him drag the carcass to Lake Hill. (Freeman Photo)

THE DEERSLAYER—First to report the catch of a deer of 10 points was Henry A. Fischang of 58 Boulevard, who shot a 10-point beauty on Mombaccus. Joseph Senkowicz helped Fischang carry the deer from the woods. It weighed more than 200 pounds dressed. (Freeman Photo).

Coast Sports Writer Sees Dodger Switch to Coast

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The baseball winds were blowing west again today with a report that the Brooklyn Dodgers may move to Los Angeles.

John B. Old, writing in the Los Angeles Herald-Express, said the tentative plans to swith the Dodgers were "hush hush," and that they would be aired at a special meeting here Nov. 22.

Old's story brought the following:

1. A denial from National League president Warren Giles.

2. A denial from Brooklyn vice-president Fresco Thompson.

Also, perhaps coincidentally, the Brooklyn Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the organization of a drive to "Keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn."

"We are not going to let what happened to the Philadelphia Athletics, Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns hit the Dodgers," said a Jaycee spokesman. The organization issued a public appeal to the fans to support the team's campaign for the sale of new economy 10 and 25-ticket books.

OLD WARNED HIS readers to "look for and expect vigorous denials concerning the proposed swith.

"Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn president, has long eyed Los Angeles as a possible future home for the Dodgers," he wrote. "...The special meeting, quietly arranged without previous publicity, was called to offset the urging of Cleveland's Hank Greenberg that the American League expand to 10 clubs at the earliest possible opportunity."

Old also said Cincinnati might join the move and shift to San Francisco. Owner Powell Crosley has been "quietly liquidating his vast interests."

"It never has been suggested to me that the Brooklyn club be moved to Los Angeles," said Giles when told of Old's story. "How could we have one club out there and the other seven way back here?"

GILES ADMITTED there was a meeting scheduled for Nov. 22, but said it was to consider a revision of the constitution and by-laws.

"This is a special meeting," he said. "Under our rules a special meeting of the club owners and league officials can take up only the matter for which it was called. The meeting Nov. 22 has no relation to the moving of any club. There are no other meetings on schedule."

Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley was en route home from Puerto Rico and could not be reached, but Thompson said: 'We don't know anything about it."

Crosley, for the Redlegs' part, has stated repeatedly the club is not for sale.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

Principal Theron Culver says the change to 11:15 a. m. for the Thanksgiving Day football game with Newburgh Academy is purely "experimental."

The feeling here is that the new starting time is here to stay.

Port Jervis and Middletown tried the 11 o'clock kickoff last year and liked it. There has never been any talk of returning to the afternoon kickoff.

Thanksgiving Day morning football is pretty general throughout the east, particularly in New Jersey and New England communities.

Coach G. Warren Kias stressed the possibility of greater injury potential in the early morning cold. However, the weather being what it is around that time in these parts, it can be just as cold at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day 1954 as it might be at 11 a. m. in 1955.

For the youngsters who are concerned about having to get up early and stow away a big breakfast, our advice is to get to bed early the night before. It surprises us that at that robust age any lad would be worried about getting up early in the morning.

We think it makes a more pleasant Thanksgiving Day to play the game at 11 or 11:15. That gets the folks back home by 1:30 when the turkey can be carved and enjoyed at leisure.

Every other year, of course, means the trip to Newburgh. But with the Thruway, who said it's a trip. Exactly 30 minutes!

• Farewell to an Old Pro:

The sudden death of Jack McCabe, the uptown restaurateur, removes from the Twaalfskill scene one of its more colorful personalities.

McCabe was an esteemed member of the Old Guard at Twaalfskill. His sly, needling wit made him an ideal partner in a foursome. He typified the old pro type—short off the tees because of advancing age, but sharp on chipping and putting. He was in the twilight of his career an acknowledged master of the short game. McCabe belonged to that select group of area golfers who had two holes-in-one to their credit.

His untimely death comes as a shock to his host of friends. Next to golf his greatest love was boxing and through a long and colorful career he had seen most of the heavyweight championship bouts. His particular favorites were Gene Tunney and Joe Louis. To older members Twaalfskill won't seem quite the same without Jack McCabe rustling up a late afternoon foursome.

IT DOESN'T SEEM TOO many years ago we sat in the stadium pressbox and heard a tiny Kingston High School band in a pitiful rendition of the national anthem.

You couldn't help recalling that incident as you watched Prof. Marlin E. Morrette lead the Kingston High School band, 75 strong now, and the cheerleaders and marching through their paces at the Poughkeepsie game.

The band and majorettes and the cheer leaders and Prof. Morrette should be commended for their splendid show. They improve with each passing week and year. They now handle difficult marching patterns with ease and confidence. It's an ensemble of performers definitely on the upgrade and headed for a brilliant future.

SMU's Frank Eidom Named Back of Week

Dallas, Nov. 17 (AP)—Frank Eidom is national back of the week and his coach, Woody Woodard of Southern Methodist, says it couldn't have happened to a finer player.

The catapulting halfback of SMU won the honor with his mighty showing against Arkansas last week when his team took over leadership of the Southwest Conference with a 21-14 victory. All he did was run for 163 yards, score all his team's touchdowns, play a grand defensive game and block like a steamroller.

Eidom came to Southern Methodist from Port Arthur, Tex.

The Weskit Dissents

Weil Nixes No-Return Clause in Title Bouts

San Francisco, Nov. 17 (AP)—Al Weill, manager of world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, said last night he couldn't go along "at this time" with outlawing of the return contest clause in contracts for championship fights.

The ban was imposed yesterday by the World Boxing Championship Committee in London. It said it would not approve title fight contracts with return bout clauses in them.

In response to a direct question as to whether Marciano would defend his title without a return bout written into the contract, Weill said:

"When that time come I will make my own terms."

"I AM REALLY surprised at this action," Weill said. "This is a free country and I am being paid to manage my fighters. He looks up to me to get matches and to help boxing, and he also looks to me to get the best financial deal possible. That's what I am paid for. I have always abided by the (New York) Commission rules, but at this time I cannot go along with the ruling of the World Boxing Championship Committee."

While Weill dissented from the year old committee which was set up to standardize championships, Robert Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said:

"For the first time in the history of boxing we have a committee which is determined to control the sport all over the world.

"I am confident the committee will stop unhappy incidents which have occurred in the past."

THE RULING also brought a dissent from Charley Johnston in New York. Johnston, president of the International Boxing Guild of Managers, said neither of his two champions—featherweight Sandy Saddler nor light heavyweight Archie Moore—would defend their titles without benefit to the clause.

The International Boxing Club (IBC), however, apparently will go along with the ban. Harry Markson, managing director of IBC, which has "exclusive" contracts for title defenses of most U. S. champions, said in New York: "The IBC always has gone along with the ideas of regular constituted bodies and will continue to do so."

Gloede Bids for Two Lehigh Mark

Easton, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Lehigh plays Lafayette for the 90th time Saturday and Lehigh quarterback Tom Gloede can set two Engineer varsity football records in the contest.

Gloede needs just 55 yards to equal the one-season forward passing record set by Joe Scannella in 1949. And he is only 50 yards shy of the total season offense record of 1[illegible] yards set by Dick Doyne during the 1950 season.

In addition to the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., quarterback, 17 other players from both schools will end their college football careers Saturday.

48-Hour Deadline For Baltimore

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets today were given 48 hours to raise money or the franchise would be dissolved by the National Basketball Association.

NBA President Maurice Podoloff met with co-owner John Knox of the Bullets until the early hours of the morning, and although neither issued a statement, a source close to the situation said the Bullets have only until Friday to raise the necessary cash to stay in the league.

Al Barthelme, who has been coaching the Bullets in the absence of Clair Bee, was optimistic over the club's chances of staying in Baltimore.

"I BELIEVE we'll stay in Baltimore," he said. "Enough people are interested in the team and we can build up more interest. It would be terrible if they sent out an ultimatum."

The Bullets won their second game in 10 attempts last night, upsetting the New York Knickerbockers 110-107. Their total set a Madison Square Garden record.

In the other half of the doubleheader, the Syracuse Nationals defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 86-85.

The Boston Celtics beat the Rochester Royals 99-98.

Hoad's Slump Worries Aussies

Sydney, Nov. 17 (AP)—Australia's Davis Cup selectors, deeply worried by the defeat of Lewis Hoad, their young cup ace, plan to give immediate control of the Aussie squad to the shrewd nonplaying captain, Harry Hopman.

Three of the four selectors were among the spectators yesterday as old-timer John Bromwich gave Hoad a 6-4, 6-3, 7-6 tennis lesson in the quarterfinals of the New South Wales tournament. All three agreed afterward that the only thing to do was to put the entire squad under the iron hand of Hopman.

The rest of the Australian Davis Cup team, which will defend the trophy against either the United States or Sweden here Dec. 26-28, is comprised of Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig.

Barney Spinella of Brooklyn held a 192 grand average in the American Bowling Congress from 1919 to 1941.

BLACK BEAUTY OF A BEAR—Egbert Schultz, one-time well known bowler, bagged this impressive looking 350-pound black bear in the hills near Mt. Tobias. Schultz brought the beast down with one perfect shot. His brother, Schuyler, helped him drag the carcass to Lake Hill. (Freeman Photo)

THE DEERSLAYER—First to report the catch of a deer of 10 points was Henry A. Fischang of 58 Boulevard, who shot a 10-point beauty on Mombaccus. Joseph Senkowicz helped Fischang carry the deer from the woods. It weighed more than 200 pounds dressed. (Freeman Photo).

Weil Nixes No-Return Clause in Title Bouts

San Francisco, Nov. 17 (AP)—Al Weill,, manager of world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, said last night he couldn't go along "at this time" with outlawing of the return contest clause in contracts for championship fights.

The ban was imposed yesterday by the World Boxing Championship Committee in London. It said it would not approve title fight contracts with return bout clauses in them.

In response to a direct question as to whether Marciano would defend his title without a return bout written into the contract, Weill said:

"When that time come I will make my own terms."

"I AM REALLY surprised at this action," Weill said. "This is a free country and I am being paid to manage my fighters. He looks up to me to get matches and to help boxing, and he also looks to me to get the best financial deal possible. That's what I am paid for. I have always abided by the (New York) Commission rules, but at this time I cannot go along with the ruling of the World Boxing Championship Committee."

While Weill dissented from the year old committee which was set up to standardize championships, Robert Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said:

"For the first time in the history of boxing we have a committee which is determined to control the sport all over the world.

"I am confident the committee will stop unhappy incidents which have occurred in the past."

THE RULING also brought a dissent from Charley Johnston in New York. Johnston, president of the International Boxing Guild of Managers, said neither of his two champions—featherweight Sandy Saddler nor light heavyweight Archie Moore—would defend their titles without benefit to the clause.

The International Boxing Club (IBC), however, apparently will go along with the ban. Harry Markson, managing director of IBC, which has "exclusive" contracts for title defenses of most U. S. champions, said in New York: "The IBC always has gone along with the ideas of regular constituted bodies and will continue to do so."

Coast Sports Writer Sees Dodger Switch to Coast

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—The baseball winds were blowing west again today with a report that the Brooklyn Dodgers may move to Los Angeles.

John B. Old, writing in the Los Angeles Herald-Express, said the tentative plans to swith the Dodgers were "hush hush," and that they would be aired at a special meeting here Nov. 22.

Old's story brought the following:

1. A denial from National League president Warren Giles.

2. A denial from Brooklyn vice-president Fresco Thompson.

Also, perhaps coincidentally, the Brooklyn Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the organization of a drive to "Keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn."

"We are not going to let what happened to the Philadelphia Athletics, Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns hit the Dodgers," said a Jaycee spokesman. The organization issued a public appeal to the fans to support the team's campaign for the sale of new economy 10 and 25-ticket books.

OLD WARNED HIS readers to "look for and expect vigorous denials concerning the proposed swith.

"Walter O'Malley, Brooklyn president, has long eyed Los Angeles as a possible future home for the Dodgers," he wrote. "...The special meeting, quietly arranged without previous publicity, was called to offset the urging of Cleveland's Hank Greenberg that the American League expand to 10 clubs at the earliest possible opportunity."

Old also said Cincinnati might join the move and shift to San Francisco. Owner Powell Crosley has been "quietly liquidating his vast interests."

"It never has been suggested to me that the Brooklyn club be moved to Los Angeles," said Giles when told of Old's story. "How could we have one club out there and the other seven way back here?"

GILES ADMITTED there was a meeting scheduled for Nov. 22, but said it was to consider a revision of the constitution and by-laws.

"This is a special meeting," he said. "Under our rules a special meeting of the club owners and league officials can take up only the matter for which it was called. The meeting Nov. 22 has no relation to the moving of any club. There are no other meetings on schedule."

Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley was en route home from Puerto Rico and could not be reached, but Thompson said: 'We don't know anything about it."

Crosley, for the Redlegs' part, has stated repeatedly the club is not for sale.

Moore in Miami

Miami, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore and Bob Satterfield of Chicago will meet in a 10-round nontitle fight in Miami Stadium Dec. 29. Maj. W. H. Peeples Jr., Miami boxing promoter, announced yesterday the fight will be televised nationally (CBS).

SPORTS

Principal Theron Culver says the change to 11:15 a. m. for the Thanksgiving Day football game with Newburgh Academy is purely "experimental."

The feeling here is that the new starting time is here to stay.

Port Jervis and Middletown tried the 11 o'clock kickoff last year and liked it. There has never been any talk of returning to the afternoon kickoff.

Thanksgiving Day morning football is pretty general throughout the east, particularly in New Jersey and New England communities.

Coach G. Warren Kias stressed the possibility of greater injury potential in the early morning cold. However, the weather being what it is around that time in these parts, it can be just as cold at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day 1954 as it might be at 11 a. m. in 1955.

For the youngsters who are concerned about having to get up early and stow away a big breakfast, our advice is to get to bed early the night before. It surprises us that at that robust age any lad would be worried about getting up early in the morning.

We think it makes a more pleasant Thanksgiving Day to play the game at 11 or 11:15. That gets the folks back home by 1:30 when the turkey can be carved and enjoyed at leisure.

Every other year, of course, means the trip to Newburgh. But with the Thruway, who said it's a trip. Exactly 30 minutes!

• Farewell to an Old Pro:

The sudden death of Jack McCabe, the uptown restaurateur, removes from the Twaalfskill scene one of its more colorful personalities.

McCabe was an esteemed member of the Old Guard at Twaalfskill. His sly, needling wit made him an ideal partner in a foursome. He typified the old pro type—short off the tees because of advancing age, but sharp on chipping and putting. He was in the twilight of his career an acknowledged master of the short game. McCabe belonged to that select group of area golfers who had two holes-in-one to their credit.

His untimely death comes as a shock to his host of friends. Next to golf his greatest love was boxing and through a long and colorful career he had seen most of the heavyweight championship bouts. His particular favorites were Gene Tunney and Joe Louis. To older members Twaalfskill won't seem quite the same without Jack McCabe rustling up a late afternoon foursome.

IT DOESN'T SEEM TOO many years ago we sat in the stadium pressbox and heard a tiny Kingston High School band in a pitiful rendition of the national anthem.

You couldn't help recalling that incident as you watched Prof. Marlin E. Morrette lead the Kingston High School band, 75 strong now, and the cheerleaders and marching through their paces at the Poughkeepsie game.

The band and majorettes and the cheer leaders and Prof. Morrette should be commended for their splendid show. They improve with each passing week and year. They now handle difficult marching patterns with ease and confidence. It's an ensemble of performers definitely on the upgrade and headed for a brilliant future.

SMU's Frank Eidom Named Back of Week

Dallas, Nov. 17 (AP)—Frank Eidom is national back of the week and his coach, Woody Woodard of Southern Methodist, says it couldn't have happened to a finer player.

The catapulting halfback of SMU won the honor with his mighty showing against Arkansas last week when his team took over leadership of the Southwest Conference with a 21-14 victory. All he did was run for 163 yards, score all his team's touchdowns, play a grand defensive game and block like a steamroller.

Eidom came to Southern Methodist from Port Arthur, Tex.

Five Vets Return To Indian Squad

Onteora Central, newest member of the Ulster County Athletic League's basketball circuit, opens its season Friday with Tri-Valley Central at Grahamsville.

Coach Ed Witko's Indians face an 18-game slate, including 12 UCAL contests, with a good looking blend of varsity holdovers, transfer students and prospects from last year's Jayvees.

The squad will be built around a stout nucleus made up of holdovers like Ronnie Locke, Lou Bolter, the cross country whiz, Conrad Bremer, Marty Rotella and Bob Krein.

COACH WITKO IS cautiously optimistic that the veteran quintet will get enough support from newcomers to give Onteora a winning season in its first full year of basketball.

Promising players up from the Jayvees include Dick Smith, Bob Shultis, Ray Shultis, Bob Hall and Ten Jensen.

Bob Kaiser and Dick Hornbeck, a couple of transfer students from Kingston High, also have shown great promise in pre-season workouts.

THE INDIANS ARE also high on a couple of lads who recently moved into the Onteora area from New York city—Dick Loftus and Ben Robinson. John Freike rounds out the current crop of hopefuls.

Practice games with Tannersville and Margaretville today and Thursday were expected to give Coach Witko a line on the probable starters against Kerhonkson. The squad will be cut to 12 players after the Margaretville scrimmage.

Outside the UCAL, the Indians will play home and home series with Margaretville and Cairo High.

Newkirk Aces Upset Rapps, Cedaraps Take First Place

Back's Cedaraps moved into first place in the YMCA Autumn League without so much as lifting a finger last night.

Nekirk Aces did it for them, knocking off the hitherto unbeaten Rapp's Express, 44-40, with a powerful fourth period kick.

Powered by Don Smith and Ronnie Diamond, the Aces led 17-15 at the half but slipped behind 30-26 going into the stretch. Their final flurry of baskets gave them an 18-10 bulge and the victory.

SMITH WAS HIGH scorer for the Aces with 13 points, while Diamond hit 12. Individual honors for the game went to Phil McCloskey with 20 markers. Leroy Sheffer hit 10 for the losers.

Two big quarters—21 in the first and 24 in the third—failed to save the Profs against the steady flow of Destroyer Junior power.

With Jim Burris bucketing 17 points, the Destroyers won it, 57-54 with a come from behind surge that outscored the Profs 15-3 in the stretch period.

Don Davis and Bucky Miller each rimmed 14 for the winners. Harry La Forge and Joe Gardner dumped 14 apiece and Frank Secreto hit 11 for the Profs.

Kramer Named Lineman of Week

By TED MEIER
(The Associated Press)

Ron Kramer, Michigan's great sophomore end, today was picked as the Associated Press lineman of the week for his magnificent play against Michigan State Saturday.

Kramer, a 19-year-old 6'3 220-pounder, was the difference as the Wolverines battered Michigan State 33-7. "He was our big guy," is the way Michigan coach Benny Oosterbaan put it.

Big Ron was tops in all departments. He kept rushing the MSC passers all afternoon and twice broke through to block punts. He picked up one blocked punt and ran for a touchdown. The other blocked punt led to another score. Offensively he snared several passes and blocked well.

Five Vets Return To Indian Squad

Onteora Central, newest member of the Ulster County Athletic League's basketball circuit, opens its season Friday with Tri-Valley Central at Grahamsville.

Coach Ed Witko's Indians face an 18-game slate, including 12 UCAL contests, with a good looking blend of varsity holdovers, transfer students and prospects from last year's Jayvees.

The squad will be built around a stout nucleus made up of holdovers like Ronnie Locke, Lou Bolter, the cross country whiz, Conrad Bremer, Marty Rotella and Bob Krein.

COACH WITKO IS cautiously optimistic that the veteran quintet will get enough support from newcomers to give Onteora a winning season in its first full year of basketball.

Promising players up from the Jayvees include Dick Smith, Bob Shultis, Ray Shultis, Bob Hall and Ten Jensen.

Bob Kaiser and Dick Hornbeck, a couple of transfer students from Kingston High, also have shown great promise in pre-season workouts.

THE INDIANS ARE also high on a couple of lads who recently moved into the Onteora area from New York city—Dick Loftus and Ben Robinson. John Freike rounds out the current crop of hopefuls.

Practice games with Tannersville and Margaretville today and Thursday were expected to give Coach Witko a line on the probable starters against Kerhonkson. The squad will be cut to 12 players after the Margaretville scrimmage.

Outside the UCAL, the Indians will play home and home series with Margaretville and Cairo High.

Newkirk Aces Upset Rapps, Cedaraps Take First Place

Back's Cedaraps moved into first place in the YMCA Autumn League without so much as lifting a finger last night.

Nekirk Aces did it for them, knocking off the hitherto unbeaten Rapp's Express, 44-40, with a powerful fourth period kick.

Powered by Don Smith and Ronnie Diamond, the Aces led 17-15 at the half but slipped behind 30-26 going into the stretch. Their final flurry of baskets gave them an 18-10 bulge and the victory.

SMITH WAS HIGH scorer for the Aces with 13 points, while Diamond hit 12. Individual honors for the game went to Phil McCloskey with 20 markers. Leroy Sheffer hit 10 for the losers.

Two big quarters—21 in the first and 24 in the third—failed to save the Profs against the steady flow of Destroyer Junior power.

With Jim Burris bucketing 17 points, the Destroyers won it, 57-54 with a come from behind surge that outscored the Profs 15-3 in the stretch period.

Don Davis and Bucky Miller each rimmed 14 for the winners. Harry La Forge and Joe Gardner dumped 14 apiece and Frank Secreto hit 11 for the Profs.

Why We Say--

A Swedish scientist who was troubled with ordinary matches burning his pockets invented the first safety match in 1855. The scientist, Bottger, perfected a match which would not ignite unless it came into contact with another substance, phosphorous, giving rise to the popular cigarette "book" matches.

Russia Told . . .

shares the deep concern of the Japanese government that the Soviet government not only continues illegally to occupy Japanese territory in the Habonai Islands, but also carries out unprovoked attacks on U. S. aircraft lawfully operating in this region."

THE NOTE REQUESTED the Soviet Union to take disciplinary action against Soviet fliers involved "and all other possible steps to prevent a recurrence of such incidents, which are in flagrant contradiction to recent statements by high Soviet officials that the Soviet Union seeks to abate international tension.

"Such action by the Soviets would be in the mutual interests of the government of the USSR and the USA."

The note added, "in the absence of appropriate action by the government of the USSR, the United States government will be impelled to provide necessary defensive protection for United States aircraft engaging in legitimate, peaceful missions, and the full responsibility for any consequences which ensue will devolve upon the government of the USSR."

The American note, usually mild in tone, concluded that: "The United States government reasserts and reserves its rights regarding reparation for human and material losses" incurred in the Nov. 7 incident.

The first chain store in the United States opened in New York city in 1859.

ence of officials of the incoming administration with Democratic legislative leaders and party officials.

Harriman also told newsmen it is "inconceivable" to him that outgoing Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey would call a special session of the expiring legislature "to deal with business which should properly be dealt with by the new administration and new legislature."

The governor-elect, who ran on both the Democratic and Liberal party tickets, will have to deal with a legislature still solidly in Republican control.

An informed source in Dewey's office has said there is a "60-40" chance that the governor will call a special session before the Harriman administration takes over in January.

Harriman said yesterday he would be "disposed" to accept any appointments Dewey might make for membership on the board of trustees of the University of the State of New York if they were made "without regard to partisan politics."

All the present trustees, who serve without compensation, have temporary appointments. Dewey is empowered by law to make permanent appointments of all 15 members of the board.

Harriman told the news conference he has "plenty of feeling" about the Niagara river power development and will have "plenty to say about it at the right time."

Repeating that juvenile delinquency will have "top priority" in his administration, Harriman said DeLuca may be given a full-time assistant to work on the problem.

The governor-elect emphasized that great reliance will be placed on local community action in the field, and added:

"It isn't the state's business to mess into local community affairs. Its job is to provide assistance — technical assistance, not necessarily financial — so they can do their job."

DeLuca said he welcomes his assignment, and commented that there is "no easy solution" to the problem. He will work with public and private agencies in developing a program.

Besides Harriman and DeLuca, those at yesterday's conference were: Comptroller-Elect Arthur Levitt; Thomas K. Finletter, chairman of this year's Democratic platform committee and former secretary for air; Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan, minority leader of the Assembly; Saul Kaplan, counsel to the Assembly minority leader; Bernard Nadel, counsel to the Senate minority leader; Democratic state chairman Richard H. Balch; Miss Angela Parisi, Democratic state vice chairman, and George Daly, publicity director of the Democratic state committee.

U. S. Asks . . .

accused Noel of being an "anti-Soviet" American spy and linked him to "Titoist" plots in Hungary.

The Hungarian announcement said the Budapest government has dropped all spy charges against Noel and Herta after a review of their case led to the conclusion the charges could not be substantiated.

(In the United States, admitted former Communists Whittaker Chambers and Hede Massing have testified that Noel Field was once a member of a Communist apparatus in Washington.)

AFTER POLAND released Hermann Field, western observers here anticipated that Noel would be turned loose. But American diplomats said the Hungarian government ignored two notes sent by the U. S. legation in the last six weeks demanding his freedom. The sources said they received no private hints Hungary intended to comply.

The Field mystery began in May, 1949, when Noel left his wife in Switzerland and went to Prague, Czechoslovakia. He was last heard from in that city on May 12. After he disappeared, his wife flew to Prague to look for him and she, too, vanished.

The first clue to the Fields' fate was given the west to Jozef Swiatlo, a Polish security police chief who fled from Poland earlier this year.

Swiatlo told Washington authorities in September he had arrested Hermann Field in 1949. He said he thought Noel and Herta were in prison in Hungary and might even be dead.

Two Hurt as Bus Goes Into Ditch

Liberty, Nov. 17 (AP)—A school bus overturned today, slightly injuring two girls among the 20 pupils aboard.

Police said the bus had stopped to pick up a student. When it started again, the wheels spun in dirt beside the road and it slipped and overturned in a ditch.

Phyllis Parks, 15, and Carol Wehner, 7, both of White Sulphur Springs, were shaken up enough to be sent to their homes to recuperate.

The other 18 pupils appeared unhurt although windows were broken.

The police said the bus was operated by Sonny Bose, of Youngsville. It was taking pupils to the White Sulphur Springs elementary school and to Liberty High School.

Chief Winfred Snyder of Hurley, chairman of the Radio committee, asked all supervisors to put in the county budget an appropriation of $7,500 for the radio base station as a step in providing radio contact with fire companies.

A film was shown by the Cancer Society and Richard Talleur of Central Hudson showed a film Electricity and the Fireman.

After the business session which was adjourned out of respect to the memory of Capt. William J. Geary, late of the Kingston fire department, a social hour was held and refreshments served.

to dismiss a recent two-count indictment against Lattimore.

The new indictment alleges that Lattimore swore falsely early in 1952 when he told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee he had never been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Communist causes.

The new indictment, in effect, replaces the key count of an earlier indictment. Judge Youngdahl threw out the key count, which alleged Lattimore lied when he said he had not been a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Communist causes.

mouth and was red "from head to toe." Thereafter, he said, she went up one floor to telephone the Welfare Department about a relief check.

He said he later went up to tell her the child was sick, but it was 10 minutes later before she returned.

Miss Mahoney sat through her direct examination with her hands folded across her stomach, and barely moved a muscle while she was questioned by her own attorney, Mortimer O'Brien, of White Plains, N. Y., but on cross-examination by Asst. Atty. Vincent J. Dermody, her composure was broken on several occasions.

When Dermody asked her to describe the events before the last time she punished her son, she started by saying, "he started to whine and I lost my —" at this point, she stopped testifying and pitched forward, almost out of her chair—resuming to say, "I shook him a little." She denied she was about to say she had lost her temper.

AT ANOTHER POINT, Dermody showed her a picture that had been taken of her son by police on Aug. 4. O'Brien had protested on Monday that the picture should not be put into evidence because, he said, it would inflame the jury.

Miss Mahony put a hand over her face as she looked at the picture, and then denied that she saw certain marks on the body pointed out by Dermody on the day the boy died. Dermody then pointed to "a hole" he said was visible on the boy's side and asked Miss Mahony how it got there.

"I can't tell you," she said.

AT ANOTHER point she remarked, "I can't remember what I did to that child — I didn't do nothing much to him."

Bates said he and Miss Mahony came to New York from White Plains July 9 and that shortly thereafter he saw her hit the child with the back of her hand "with all her might" and that she also hit him with a belt buckle.

A few days later, he continued, he saw her hit the child "with her hand, the buckle, and God knows what else."

Bates conceded that he hit the child on two occasions about the legs with a white plastic belt, but said that the second of those occasions occurred three days before the boy died.

Miss Mahony testified that her son never had any marks where she hit him, but that there were black and blue marks "where Al hit him."

She denied she was trying to intimate that her son received multiple rib fractures and tears in his liver and kidney while she was telephoning on Aug. 4, when the baby was with Bates.

Her defense was rested after her testimony.

Bates' defense is to conclude after his cross-examination ends, according to his attorney, John J. McCarthy.

Lunch Box Cause Of Traffic Mishap

A sliding lunch box was listed as the cause of a traffic mishap at Pearl street and Noone's Lane yesterday afternoon.

Officers Meyer Levy and Julius Glassman reported at 4:39 p. m., that John D. Peyer, of 89 Prospect street, was driving south on Pearl street when his car struck a telephone company pole.

The officers quoted Peyer as saying that his lunch box "was sliding off the front seat," and as he reached for it, he "lost control of the vehicle and it struck the pole." The entire front of the car was damaged and it was towed from the scene. The report listed no injuries.

SAFETY MATCHES

A Swedish scientist who was troubled with ordinary matches burning his pockets invented the first safety match in 1855. The scientist, Bottger, perfected a match which would not ignite unless it came into contact with another substance, phosphorous, giving rise to the popular cigarette "book" matches.

shares the deep concern of the Japanese government that the Soviet government not only continues illegally to occupy Japanese territory in the Habonai Islands, but also carries out unprovoked attacks on U. S. aircraft lawfully operating in this region."

THE NOTE REQUESTED the Soviet Union to take disciplinary action against Soviet fliers involved "and all other possible steps to prevent a recurrence of such incidents, which are in flagrant contradiction to recent statements by high Soviet officials that the Soviet Union seeks to abate international tension.

"Such action by the Soviets would be in the mutual interests of the government of the USSR and the USA."

The note added, "in the absence of appropriate action by the government of the USSR, the United States government will be impelled to provide necessary defensive protection for United States aircraft engaging in legitimate, peaceful missions, and the full responsibility for any consequences which ensue will devolve upon the government of the USSR."

The American note, usually mild in tone, concluded that: "The United States government reasserts and reserves its rights regarding reparation for human and material losses" incurred in the Nov. 7 incident.

ence of officials of the incoming administration with Democratic legislative leaders and party officials.

Harriman also told newsmen it is "inconceivable" to him that outgoing Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey would call a special session of the expiring legislature "to deal with business which should properly be dealt with by the new administration and new legislature."

The governor-elect, who ran on both the Democratic and Liberal party tickets, will have to deal with a legislature still solidly in Republican control.

An informed source in Dewey's office has said there is a "60-40" chance that the governor will call a special session before the Harriman administration takes over in January.

Harriman said yesterday he would be "disposed" to accept any appointments Dewey might make for membership on the board of trustees of the University of the State of New York if they were made "without regard to partisan politics."

All the present trustees, who serve without compensation, have temporary appointments. Dewey is empowered by law to make permanent appointments of all 15 members of the board.

Harriman told the news conference he has "plenty of feeling" about the Niagara river power development and will have "plenty to say about it at the right time."

Repeating that juvenile delinquency will have "top priority" in his administration, Harriman said DeLuca may be given a full-time assistant to work on the problem.

The governor-elect emphasized that great reliance will be placed on local community action in the field, and added:

"It isn't the state's business to mess into local community affairs. Its job is to provide assistance — technical assistance, not necessarily financial — so they can do their job."

DeLuca said he welcomes his assignment, and commented that there is "no easy solution" to the problem. He will work with public and private agencies in developing a program.

Besides Harriman and DeLuca, those at yesterday's conference were: Comptroller-Elect Arthur Levitt; Thomas K. Finletter, chairman of this year's Democratic platform committee and former secretary for air; Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan, minority leader of the Assembly; Saul Kaplan, counsel to the Assembly minority leader; Bernard Nadel, counsel to the Senate minority leader; Democratic state chairman Richard H. Balch; Miss Angela Parisi, Democratic state vice chairman, and George Daly, publicity director of the Democratic state committee.

accused Noel of being an "anti-Soviet" American spy and linked him to "Titoist" plots in Hungary.

The Hungarian announcement said the Budapest government has dropped all spy charges against Noel and Herta after a review of their case led to the conclusion the charges could not be substantiated.

(In the United States, admitted former Communists Whittaker Chambers and Hede Massing have testified that Noel Field was once a member of a Communist apparatus in Washington.)

AFTER POLAND released Hermann Field, western observers here anticipated that Noel would be turned loose. But American diplomats said the Hungarian government ignored two notes sent by the U. S. legation in the last six weeks demanding his freedom. The sources said they received no private hints Hungary intended to comply.

The Field mystery began in May, 1949, when Noel left his wife in Switzerland and went to Prague, Czechoslovakia. He was last heard from in that city on May 12. After he disappeared, his wife flew to Prague to look for him and she, too, vanished.

The first clue to the Fields' fate was given the west to Jozef Swiatlo, a Polish security police chief who fled from Poland earlier this year.

Swiatlo told Washington authorities in September he had arrested Hermann Field in 1949. He said he thought Noel and Herta were in prison in Hungary and might even be dead.

Two Hurt as Bus Goes Into Ditch

Liberty, Nov. 17 (AP)—A school bus overturned today, slightly injuring two girls among the 20 pupils aboard.

Police said the bus had stopped to pick up a student. When it started again, the wheels spun in dirt beside the road and it slipped and overturned in a ditch.

Phyllis Parks, 15, and Carol Wehner, 7, both of White Sulphur Springs, were shaken up enough to be sent to their homes to recuperate.

The other 18 pupils appeared unhurt although windows were broken.

The police said the bus was operated by Sonny Bose, of Youngsville. It was taking pupils to the White Sulphur Springs elementary school and to Liberty High School.

Lunch Box Cause Of Traffic Mishap

A sliding lunch box was listed as the cause of a traffic mishap at Pearl street and Noone's Lane yesterday afternoon.

Officers Meyer Levy and Julius Glassman reported at 4:39 p. m., that John D. Peyer, of 89 Prospect street, was driving south on Pearl street when his car struck a telephone company pole.

The officers quoted Peyer as saying that his lunch box "was sliding off the front seat," and as he reached for it, he "lost control of the vehicle and it struck the pole." The entire front of the car was damaged and it was towed from the scene. The report listed no injuries.
